

XENIA CHAUTAUQUA SCHEDULED ON JULY 8 TO 14 ANNOUNCED

July 8 to 14 is announced as chautauqua week in Xenia. Perhaps the outstanding feature of an exceptionally strong program is the Moscow Artists Ensemble, a group of Russian entertainers including singers, balalaika instrumentalists and the premiere danseuse, Mlle. Nina Sergeyeva. Elaborate costuming and scenery will be introduced.

Next in program importance are the two great plays, "The Fool," and the three-act comedy, "Applesauce." When "The Fool" of which Channing Pollock is author, was first presented in New York City it was necessary to give daily matinees to accommodate the crowds. At the Times Square Theater 350,000 people witnessed the play in less than eight months. It has been proclaimed "the greatest success in the history of the American theater."

It has been less than a year since Barry Connors' triumph comedy "Applesauce" was available for New Yorkers. Previous to that time it ran for a solid season at the LaSalle Theater in Chicago where, press reports relate, audiences "ate it up." During the first eleven weeks in Chicago "Applesauce" played to more than 100,000 patrons. It is a play sharply spiced with humor, and exceptionally palatable.

D. Thomas Curtin, international newspaper correspondent and former secretary to Lord Northcliffe, will discuss current events at chautauqua. Charles H. Plattenburg, western editor, will lecture on "The Old Town in a New World." Sam Grathwell will discuss "Getting by Your Hoodoo." John H. Dickason will describe "Young America at Bat." Anne Campbell of the Detroit News will be heard as "The Poet of the Home." Harrison Crofford, southern entertainer, will give a dramatic program. Howard Wade Kimsey, one of America's foremost song leaders, will introduce community singing. Al Baker, magician and ventriloquist, is slated for a special junior program.

Chautauqua patrons will be especially interested in a scenic production, "Echoes of the Alps," in which two groups of Alpine Yodlers are combined in an unusual program. Harold Lewis and his Symphony Players constitute another high spot of chautauqua week. They are scheduled for the opening program, July 8.

ROOSEVELT CABIN TO BECOME MUSEUM

BISMARCK, N. D., April 26—Landscaping which will reproduce the original setting in the Bad Lands will be undertaken on the grounds surrounding the Roosevelt cabin at the capitol here. The cottage which the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt occupied when as a young man he came to North Dakota to seek health was moved here from the Roosevelt ranch near Medora. Formal opening will be held on June 15. Five thousand tourists visited the cabin last year. A Roosevelt museum has been started.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture

Chronic Peritonitis is often due to intestinal tuberculosis when it does not result as an after-effect from an acute attack. The characteristic symptom is pain and tenderness over the abdominal area with more or less distension caused by the presence of a watery fluid. When this morbid secretion involves the whole of the abdominal membrane, an acute process may supervene, with a fatal ending.

In the treatment of chronic peritonitis it is necessary to adopt constitutional measures for building up the highest possible degree of vitality and accomplishing such a radical purification of the blood stream as will enable the system to eradicate the disease thoroughly and permanently. It is best to give the entire alimentary canal a complete rest, and for this reason a fast is urgently recommended. The longer the fast the more effective, although its duration will naturally be determined by the strength and weight of the patient. If of normal weight or above, a fast which is termed a long fast should be undergone. In this particular method of fasting one should drink water whenever there is a thirst for it. As a rule when a long fast is needed, after a week or ten days the tongue becomes thickly coated and the breath exceedingly foul, showing the extreme activity of the purifying processes. This fast should be continued until the tongue is clean, and until there is a distinct desire for some particular article of food that is known to be wholesome in character. A breaking-fast regimen consisting of three meals of acid fruit only, the first meal to be a quarter of a pint of fruit juice made from some acid fruit. Fresh fruit is usually preferable to juices that have been bottled; for instance the juice of a fresh orange or grapefruit is best to use. The second day take three meals of double the quantity of fruit juice. The third day three meals each consisting of one or two oranges, the pulp of the orange to be eaten if desired. The fourth day, if you are going on a milk diet, take some acid fruit on arising and a quarter of a pint of milk every two hours while awake. The fifth day a half pint of milk every two hours, the sixth day half pint of milk every hour, the seventh day half a pint of milk every half hour and so on.

FEWER HOMELESS IN LONDON IS REPORT

LONDON, April 26—The annual census of homeless persons in London this year, recorded only 100, of which twenty-four were women. This novel census has been taken every year since 1903, when the homeless numbered 1797. The census is taken by police and County Council officials during a certain night, and is a helpful index for relief measures.

The grim shadows of the Embankment still draw most of the homeless. On the night of the census most of the seats along the right bank of the river from Blackfriars Bridge to Westminster Bridge were occupied by desolate men and women. Here the police do not disturb them, and the famous district likewise continues to attract writers seeking material on the sadder sides of life, dreamers and philosophers.

During the later years of the war the Embankment began to lose its picturesque character, but instead of passing it has in recent years revived, and after midnight the shadows now carry much the same story that the Embankment has told for many generations.

GUILDAY-HUSTMEYER

WEDDING IN DETAIL
Details of the marriage of Miss Katherine Guilday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Guilday, Milford, Ohio, formerly of this city, and Mr. Frank Hustmeyer, Cincinnati, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hustmeyer, this city, are received here with interest.

The wedding took place last Thursday morning at 7:30 o'clock at St. Andrew's Church, Milford, the Rev. Father E. J. Greger officiating. Roses were used on the altars.

The attendants were Miss Hilda Murphy and Mr. Charles Guilday, brother of the bride. Messrs. Raymond and Leo Rhiele were ushers.

The bride made a charming picture in a gown of rose georgette with hat and accessories to match. She carried Columbia roses and white sweet peas. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Miss Murphy, bride's maid, wore old rose georgette and carried Madame Butterfly roses with pink sweet peas. Following the ceremony, a five course breakfast was served at the beautiful new home of the bride's parents, on Cleveland Ave. Pink and white sweet peas and roses were used and the pink and white color scheme was carried out at the table.

Seated at the brides table were: the Rev. Father E. J. Greger, Miss Hilda Murphy, Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Jane Murphy, Miss Catherine M. Guilday, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Guilday, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Hustmeyer, St. Xenia, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Altshoff and son, Bobbie, Chillicothe and the bride and groom.

The bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Guilday, of Williamsport, Pa., being unable to attend, sent their congratulations and best wishes during the breakfast.

OHIO PEN PRISONER

VICTIM OF ALCOHOL POISON IN PRISON

OHIO STATE PENITENTIARY, COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—One convict is dead and three others were in a serious condition today from drinking wood alcohol, obtained from the prison soap house, Warden P. E. Thomas revealed.

Evert Adams, 26, Butler County, serving fifteen years for automobile theft, died at 4:37 Sunday, Thomas announced.

James "Big Jim" Morton, 42, serving fifteen years for robbery, from Cuyahoga County, is in the prison hospital, his condition critical. The others ill, are:

James Kennedy, 43, serving fifteen to 25 years from Cuyahoga County for robbery.

William J. Mahoney, Lucas county, serving a life term for murder.

Adams died from acute dilation of the heart, the coroner announced.

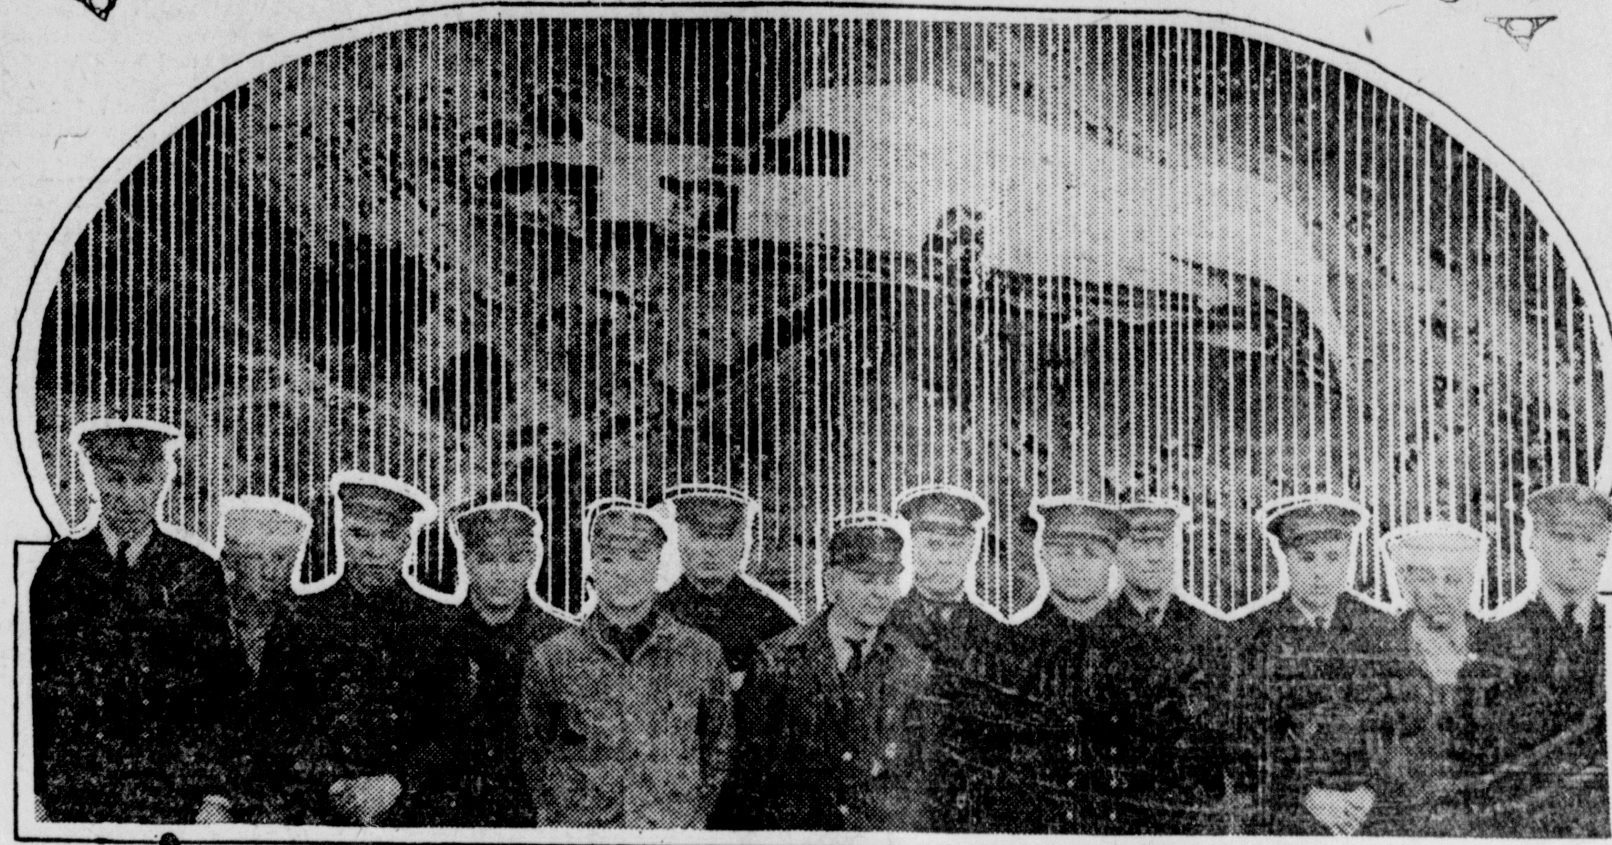

Although the three convicts are in a serious condition, Thomas said prison physicians had advised him they would live. All the prisoners including Adams were employed in the prison laundry.

Morton said they obtained the alcohol from the soap house and mixed it with fruit juices secured from cans thrown away in the kitchen.

Adams was stricken Saturday night Thomas revealed. Sunday his condition became critical and he was removed to the prison hospital where he lost consciousness and died.

The coroner was summoned immediately and the other three,

14 Survivors of Shenandoah Disaster "Carry On" Aboard Los Angeles

Not daunted by the terrifying experience thrust upon them when U. S. S. Shenandoah broke up over Ava, O., last year, 14 survivors of ill-fated dirigible's crew now are serving aboard the U. S. S. Los Angeles, sister airship. Comdr. C. E. Rosendahl, senior surviving officer of the Ava tragedy, is skipper of the Los Angeles. The 14 are shown above. Inset is a view of the wrecked Shenandoah, which may be in their minds every time they go up.

Morton, Kennedy and Mahoney

were removed to the hospital. Mahoney said he and his companions had a "drinking bout" in the laundry Saturday afternoon unknown to guards and other prisoners.

GENERAL PATRICK

VIEWS MIMIC WAR

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the U. S. army air service was a spectator of the "war" at Wright field, Monday. He arrived in Dayton Monday and went immediately to the "battle fields" where the pursuit, bombardment and attack squadrons of the army air service are battling.

Most spectacular phases of the mimic war took place Monday. For the time being the air service was divided within itself as the bombers and attack ships became the enemies of the pursuit fliers. Sent out on an hour's flight the bombardment and attack ships were free to return to Wright field in any direction they chose.

The pursuit squadron was notified by a delicate sounding device which foretold fifteen to twenty minutes in advance, of the approach of the "hostile" aircraft and left the direction of their coming an open question. The pursuit squadron took the air immediately and attacked the invaders.

Wins in "Engineered" Election

Miss Kneisley is a member of First Baptist Church. Three other contestants were from the Home.

MONDAY VIOLATORS

ON POLICE BLOTTER ANSWER TO CHARGES

The usual large number of weekend arrests of intoxicated persons and of motorists for exceeding the speed limit or violating some other provision of the city traffic ordinance were recorded on the police blotter Monday.

Five men were fined for intoxication, four motorists were assessed small fines for speeding, one drew a penalty for failure to observe the alternating stop and go traffic signal and another may face charges of intoxication and operating an auto while intoxicated.

Uriah Hedgepath, colored, may face the two last-named charges following his arrest Saturday night by Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Fred Jones, George Spencer and George Robinson, after he had driven his auto into another car parked on E. Main St. owned by David Dimons. Damage was slight. He was to appear before Mayor John Prugh Monday afternoon.

Raymond Trusty, 22, Earl Harris, 39, and John Collins, all colored, this city, arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen George Robinson were each fined by Mayor Prugh following guilty pleas to intoxication. Trusty and Collins drew $10 fines and costs and Harris $20 and costs. Collins also agreed to leave the city.

Herman Lohr, 47, arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Fred Jones and Hollie Nickens, colored, Springfield, arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Fred Jones, Peter Shagin and George Robinson, were each fined $10 and costs for intoxication. They pleaded guilty.

John Brakeall, Alfred Troyke, E. W. Earhart, and David Allen, arrested over the weekend-end by Motorcycle Policemen Peter Shagin, were each fined $5 and costs for speeding. E. C. Baker was fined $1 and costs for driving past the red light.

Miss Kneisley was presented a bronze medal following the contest. She will participate in the county contest, following the various contests in county churches, which will be held in two weeks. A silver medal will be presented the winner of the county contest, who will take part in the state meet.

The contest is sponsored over the state by the Ohio Council of Churches, in the "Crusade for a Warless World."

TWO APPLICATIONS

FOR TRAINING CAMP HAVE BEEN RECEIVED

With approach of warm weather Greene County young men are beginning to take advantage of the opportunity for sport and outdoor life offered by the annual Citizens' Military Training Camps this summer.

Arthur Hyman, 323 E. Market St. and Emmett P. Rachford, 201 E. Third St., Xenia, are the first from this county to heed the call for the training camps.

Many thousands of dollars worth of athletic equipment is supplied by the government and sports of all kinds are encouraged and arranged at these camps.

Applicants are accepted for the basic, or first year course between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four provided they are up to the standard, mentally and morally.

Government pays the railroad fare to and from the camps which will be held at Camp Knox, Ky., July 7 to August 5, at Fort Thomas, Ky., and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., July 15 to August 13.

Dr. Harold C. Messenger, Greene County chairman, is in charge of the local campaign this year and announces he will be glad to furnish prospective applicants with additional information concerning the camps.

REBEL GRAVES TO BE

DECORATED IN OHIO

SANDUSKY, O., April 26.—(UP)—The graves of the several hundred officers of the Confederacy buried in the federal prison cemetery on Johnson's Island, Sandusky Bay, near here, will be decorated by Sandusky Rotarians on Memorial Day, it was announced today.

The Rotary club received a communication from the Daughters of the Confederacy of Cincinnati, recalling a promise and asking whether the Daughters could be of any service in carrying it out, was read. The club introduced Dr. Julius Kramer to advise the Daughters that "the promise would be kept."

The promise was made voluntarily last year when, following Memorial Day, it was discovered the island graves had been entirely overlooked.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME TAKES

EFFECT IN SPITE OF PROTESTS

Daylight Saving time was ushered into Xenia Sunday morning, under provision of a city ordinance, despite a threatened move by those opposed to advanced time to enjoy the new time from becoming effective.

The new time, opposed by a small body of Greene County residents, precipitated a controversy which had apparently reached a head, Monday.

Protesters sponsored a movement for a meeting of all Xenia business men, including both those favoring and those opposed to Daylight Saving time at City Hall Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, fast time.

An open invitation was circulated among merchants to meet jointly with city commissioners and informally discuss the question with

J. HOWARD ADAMS IS

SUMMONED BY DEATH

J. Howard Adams, 59, Yellow Springs musician, died Sunday morning at 12:30 o'clock at Mrs. Emma W. Smith's Sanitarium, that village.

His death was caused by dropsy and followed a lingering illness. Mr. Adams would have reached his sixtieth birthday May 15. He was well known in the vicinity and taught violin for several years. He was twice married, both wives preceding him in death. He had no children.

Three brothers, J. W. Adams, Yellow Springs, and two others who reside in the West, survive. Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock at Littleton's Undertaking Parlor, Yellow Springs, with interment in Glen Forest Cemetery, that place.

SUICIDES WHILE

WITH SWEETHEART

STEUBENVILLE, O., April 26.—(UP)—A rigid investigation was under way here today into the death of James Bretell, 27, son of a prominent coal dealer, who shot and killed himself in the presence of Miss Doris Crabtree, 26.

Bretell and Miss Crabtree were betrothed according to police. They were sitting together in Bretell's automobile when the man suddenly pulled a revolver from his clothing and shot himself. Badly frightened, Miss Crabtree ran through the streets screaming. She finally was overtaken and told of the shooting.

Neither Miss Crabtree nor relatives could advance a motive for Bretell's deed. Miss Crabtree is the daughter of a prominent Wellsburg, W. Va. family.

FRENCH MARSHAL

LEAPS OVER TABLE

PARIS, APRIL 26.—Marshal Lyautey, who retired last year as resident general of Morocco because of precarious health, provoked a banquet here that now, at the age of seventy-four, he is by no means a feeble old man.

His speech was wildly applauded by fellow colonial officers and the distinguished soldier jumped over a table. He then turned to General Bucan of the Algerian cavalry and ordered, "Jump, Bucan." The general jumped. Then the marshal challenged one of the younger officers, Colonel Faure of the Moroccan Chasseurs, with "Jump, Faure." With considerable effort the Colonel complied.

EAST END NEWS

MRS. JAMES HARRIS Correspondent

TEL. 91-R

Richard Brunell, 71, died at his home at Adams and Sycamore Sts., Jamestown, Sunday afternoon at 2:25 o'clock.

THE NEW LEISURE

THIS is an amazing age. As the street urchin would say, it has "done wonders." If there was anything new under the sun undone at the end of the nineteenth century, it has been achieved during the twenty-five years and some odd months that have since elapsed.

The automobile and airplane have replaced the covered wagon.

Tractors and harvesting machines do the work of the horse-drawn single-blade plow and the scythe.

Typewriters have made curiosities of goose-quill pens.

Electric lights are turning into day the pitchy nights of the tallow candle.

The radio and telegraph have annihilated distance.

Good roads and modern methods of transportation have abolished rural isolation.

Industrial development and introduction of the machine into industry have increased production and shortened the working day.

All there is left for civilized man to do is to learn to take the fullest advantage of the products of his own ingenuity and to make the best possible use of the new leisure they bring him. What does leisure profit a man if he wastes it?

If the American people made of the right stuff they will use their increased leisure in improving themselves physically, mentally and financially. In the past they have always proven their sterling worth and there is no reason to believe they will fail in this new test.

THE ENVIED BACHELOR

IT HAS been proposed in the French parliament to limit the yearly income of bachelors to $20,000. English bachelors are being forced out of their multidroomed apartments to make room for bridal pairs and families with children. In Saxony the government collects a tax from tourist bachelors. In the United States the nearest thing to a bachelor tax is the lower income tax exemption but that also applies to the spinster and the greater exemption for the married man covers two taxables.

Nobody loves the bachelor, but it is apparent that he is greatly envied. Perhaps it is because society rather pities the spinster that the penalizing of spinsterhood has not been advocated.

It would be interesting to know what classes lobby for bachelor taxes and penalties. Perhaps they are the militarists and super-patriots tormented by the perpetual worry over race suicide and national birth-rates. Investigation might find many spinsters and mothers having marriageable daughters in the anti-bachelor bloc. And it is not without the realm of possibility that not a few unwilling and unhappy bachelors, craving company in their misery, are behind this move to drive all eligible men into matrimony.

These attacks on man's single state attach no significance to the oft heard expression "Pity the poor bachelor" and will no doubt dissuade many from matrimony. As a forbidden fruit bachelorhood should become increasingly popular.

Every once in a while you dislike a chap who really has nothing against him except the fact that he's too numerous.

SUITING EVERYBODY

A new London play has two endings—one tragic, the other "happy". On Saturday nights and holidays the happy ending is inserted, while at the other performances the play ends tragically. Both endings fit the play appropriately, and British dramatic critics are divided as to which is the better.

Here is a stage innovation which is logical, although it smacks of commercialism. Stage successes are measured by popular approval and it is well known that to many theatre-goers a "sad ending" spoils an otherwise good play. That this is an attempt to satisfy both camps, there can be no doubt.

What interests the student of human nature, however, is why the producer employs the "happy ending" only on Saturday nights and holidays. Is it because London Saturday and holiday audiences are comprised of different classes than make up the audiences of other nights? Predominating in the Saturday and holiday show crowd in this country are the working classes and out-of-town visitors, and it is not unlikely that a like condition exists in London.

But why not a play with two endings? Where two diametrically opposite tastes can be gratified, why not gratify both? The "high brow" will have his tragedy and the "low brow" will be amused, if not by the same play then by two plays.

FIFTY YEARS OF PUBLIC SERVICE

THE first transcontinental telephone line was established from New York to San Francisco only eleven years ago, by way of Chicago and Denver.

A second transcontinental line has recently been completed from Los Angeles through Texas to New Orleans, with lateral lines connecting at San Francisco with the first continental line; from El Paso to Denver and from Fort Worth to Chicago, as well as the existing lines from New Orleans north.

To think that the telephone was unknown until but 50 years ago is almost inconceivable. Its phenomenal growth has been due to its practical usefulness and the fact that its officials have always been men of highest ability.

The Great Balancing Act

1906-Twenty Years Ago-1926

Letters are still being received by anxious relatives from those who went through the earthquake at San Francisco. All are believed safe. Considerable excitement was caused at noon by the disappearance from the yard of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Bebb, where he was enjoying a little visit, of John William Jobe, aged two.

During the brief thunder storm the residence of Samuel Fisher, of Columbus St., was struck by lightning and caught fire. Mr. Fisher was slightly hurt.

Mr. Hollenback will re-open the Xenia Ice Manufacturing and Cold Storage Company's plant as a wholesale ice business.

Mr. Clarence Frazer attended the Fox and Jewel horse sale at Cincinnati and purchased a blooded young saddle mare named Raty L.

berries are mashed and serve at once. (If preferred, the Spanish Cream may be served simply with cream, instead of with this sauce). This sauce is excellent also on white-cake slices, as Cottage Pudding, or on steamed fruit puddings, hot grapefruit pudding, and hot bread pudding.

Veal Cutlet: Dip cutlet in flour, and fry in beef drippings on both sides till browned. Then cover the meat with boiling water (in the frying pan) and let simmer forty minutes. Thicken gravy with flour, and serve.

FOR THE YOUNGER GENERATION

I wonder just what we'd have done Had we been thrust upon life's stage In such a most bewildering age And asked to be, from sun to sun, Obedient children, every one.

When we were young we never knew The motor's mastery of space, The horse and buggy's slower pace Restricted much we longed to do Some thrills we had, but they were few.

Our lives were very simple then, We had not reached the countless things Which modern progress always brings, The old-time pace is lost to men, And will not ever come again.

Our children now are being tried In various ways to us unknown, They travel many a danger zone Their perils have been multiplied.

ON Greene County History

THOMAS BARLOW WALKER

Thomas Barlow Walker, one of the greatest lumbermen the country has ever produced, is another man whose name is emblazoned on the pages of Greene County's history.

He was born in Xenia, February 1, 1840, a son of Platt B. and Antie Keziah Barlow Walker.

As a young man he taught school for a time, later becoming traveling salesman before he located at Minnesota in 1862 when he was twenty-two years of age.

He was first engaged in that state on government surveys and later as surveyor for the St. Paul and Duluth Railroad.

During this time he began investigating in timber lands and eventually became the greatest lumberman in Minnesota.

He was also heavily interested in California white and sugar pine land.

He was the projector and builder of the St. Louis Park and the electric line to it; built the central city market and the wholesale commission district; was the originator and builder of the Minneapolis public library, and was president of the library board for thirty years.

Walker is also responsible for building up the State Academy of Science and its museum of science and art.

He amassed a splendid collection of paintings that fills the large art gallery of the public library and also an extensive collection of ancient art in the museum room of the library.

Attached to his home in Minneapolis is the only free art gallery to be found in either the United States or Europe.

ECZEMA

Dries right up!

If you just realized how easy it is to stop fiery, itching, burning eczema by simply building up the red-blood-cells in your blood with S. S. S., you wouldn't waste another minute trying to do it any other way. That's the only way to relieve irritated, broken out skin of any sort. You lack rich, red blood. Impurities are in your system. The blood is so weak it can't fight back and overcome the enemy, so the impurities break out through the skin.

S. S. S. builds the blood back—builds millions of new red-blood-cells. Eczema dries right up. Boils, pimples, blackheads, ugly blotches and irritating rashes all disappear. Clear up your skin. Get S. S. S. All druggists sell it. The larger bottle is more economical.

Today's Talk

FAITH IN SOMEONE ELSE

It is a little strange how just faith works. Especially when that faith comes out of the heart of someone else and is applied to you.

We keep our chins quite a deal higher because someone else has faith in us.

We are so closely knit one to another, after all. This is illustrated in public calamities. Everybody feels them and wants to help the strangest stranger.

The misfortunes of others touch us because we, too, have had them. We have wanted people to pat us on the back, encouraging us. And so we take our opportunity to pat someone else on the back.

In reading a lovely little book the other evening, called "Footsteps in a Parish" by John Timothy Stone, I came across this sentiment about the man for whom the book was written: "To know Dr. Babcock well, to realize what a friend he could be—one must have trouble."

Faith given one in trouble often changes the course of one's life.

A large number of the failures that are strewn all about us are failures largely because faith wasn't poured their way.

When somebody has faith in us, and we know it, then we begin to climb.

But just let one person who is near and dear to us lose faith in us—and the sun goes behind a cloud at once.

We would rather have our pay in this life come to us in the shape of faith in us than in any other way.

Then why not put your faith in someone else? Why not keep giving your faith away—out at "interest," for instance?

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

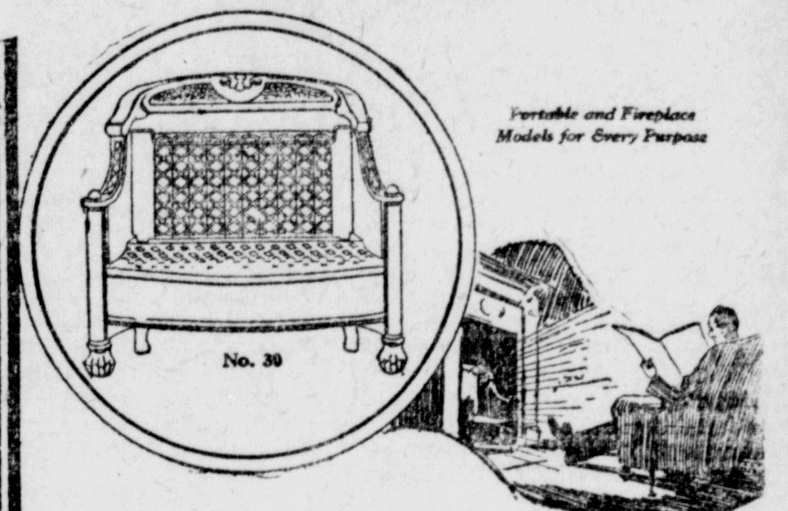

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds on the chest. Keep it handy for instant use.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

MODISH MITZI—Should Mitzi Have More Or Less Hair? BY J. V. JAY

Shall she grow it? There seem to be a great many arguments for it. One could do it a different way every day. One could wear fancy combs. And there would be hair pins again. It's the lack of variety that puts on Mitzi. Something must be done, too, right away.

When one has to do something to hair nowadays one consults the "bobber." Mitzi is about to do the preliminaries to having her hair cut long but that was before she saw this fascinating bob with the swirling frontpiece. It might be becoming. It's worth consideration anyway.

Or if you let the hair grow, you could brush it back from the forehead and arch it at the nape of the neck with a barrette. Then it is brushed to resemble a sort of loose swirl. Ears show a bit. It's terrible to be so wobbly-minded. Shall she or shan't she?

On the other hand, there is this very short cut. There is something about showing the entire ear particularly, when it is a nice, small one that is very, er, appealing. Mitzi thinks she'll have a very short cut, it will be handy for summer. It's smart. And well, there are so many good arguments for it. Just as many or more than for long hair.

LEADERS RETAIN POSITIONS IN XENIA BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Standing in the singles of the individual city bowling tournament was unchanged during the past week's matches, leaders experiencing little difficulty in retaining a firm grasp on first position in the three classes.

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, April 26.—Major League baseball this season offers a number of most interesting problems that will compel the attention of studios fans who are not merely concerned with bare scores. Interest naturally will follow the attempts of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators to defend their championships and the efforts of the New York Giants the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees to get into the world's series.

With two or more fairly evenly matched clubs battling for the pennants in the big leagues, there will be enough to occupy the attention of studios fans who are not merely concerned with bare scores. Interest naturally will follow the attempts of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators to defend their championships and the efforts of the New York Giants the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees to get into the world's series.

WEATHER PREVENTS SUNDAY BALL GAME

Jupe Pluvius intervened with a combination of drizzling rain and cold weather to frustrate a play entertained by the Bowersville Bayliffs Baseball Club to open its home diamond season with the Springfield Tramps Sunday afternoon at Bowersville.

Inclement weather forced postponement of the contest. It will probably be re-scheduled for a later date.

Bayliffs, weather permitting, will help the Washington C. H. Athletics pry off their baseball lid at Washington next Sunday afternoon it is announced.

Athletics defeated the Bayliffs twice last season in the sixth inning of each game but the locals hope to surmount this hoodoo Sunday.

Indications point to a southpaw pitcher's battle between Peters for the Athletics and a Bayliff twirler, who is announced to be "just as good" as Clarence "Dick" Wells, star Bowersville righthander. It is said Wells will join the Greenfield team this summer.

FARRELL TO COVER EUROPEAN SPORTS

Henry L. Farrell, United Press sport editor, former Xenian, is sailing next Saturday from New York to take charge of the European United Press and United News sports service for the season.

The team of American amateur golfers, headed by Bobby Jones and including Watts Gunn, Roland MacKenzie, George Von Elm, Francis Oumet, Bob Gardner, Gess Guilford and Jess Sweetser will sail accompanied by Mr. Farrell, on the Aquitania.

Farrell will arrive in England in time to cover the final rounds of the British woman's golf championships at Harlech, Wales.

From May 10, when the woman's golf championship starts, until July 3, when the Wimbledon tennis championship closes, there will be a continuous success of big golf and tennis classics in which the greatest players in the world will compete.

RESERVE CONTEST HALTED BY WEATHER

The weather man was unkind to Xenia baseball fans Sunday afternoon, when a mixture of wet grounds and unseasonable weather necessitated postponement of the scheduled game between the Xenia Reserves and Dayton Collegians at Washington Park.

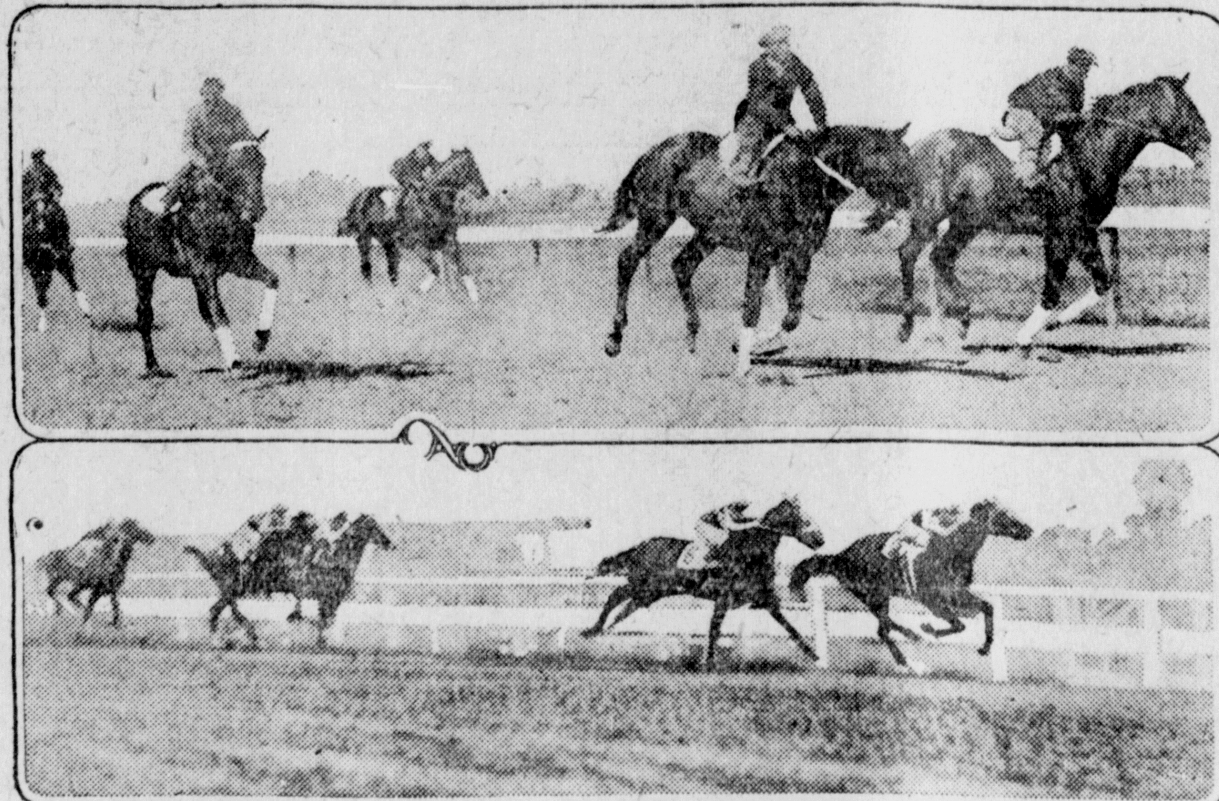

Weather Sunday was more adaptable to football than baseball and biting winds precipitated the mercury down to unreasonable depths in the tube.

Manager Brockman announces the Reserves will play the Cincinnati Cardinals at Washington Park next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, fast time. The Cardinals will probably be the chief diamond attraction in Xenia this season. Team is composed of players of the K. L. O. League.

Springfield Millard Clothiers will come to Xenia the following Sunday after which the Dayton Collegians will be played.

McPherson, star Pennsylvania twirler, was in Xenia Sunday to pitch for the Reserves and has agreed to stay over for the Cincinnati game next week. Manager Brockman declares.

CHICAGO RUSHES PREPARATIONS FOR BIG EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

CHICAGO, Apr. 26.—Committees are busily canvassing the city to make a success of the transformation of Chicago into the church center of the world on June 20 to 24.

During that time more than 1,000,000 persons, members of both the clergy and the lay field, will be here to attend the Eucharistic Congress of the World.

Every hotel in the city will be taxed to its capacity. It is expected these will take care of 250,000 of the delegates. Every room in the city available for renting purposes is being registered. All hotels and restaurants, as well as home owners, are being cautioned to have sufficient food on hand to care for this immense crowd.

It will be Chicago's biggest event since the World Fair in 1893, and it is the chief interest of the Roman Catholic world this year.

Chicago will be able to handle the immense crowd, backers of the unique convention said today. While railroad facilities will be taxed, there are sufficient carriers operating into the city to care for the delegates. Railroads from the east probably will have the biggest task in handling the immense delegations coming from abroad.

The arrangements committee announces that there will be little confusion. A room will be designed to each delegate. On the card handed to the delegate will be the address, instructions on how to reach the lodging place and the price of the room. This will prevent there being a million mob in the railroad stations, as at other times.

While Chicago proper is preparing for the task of being host to a million, Mundelein, Ill., is watching a fevered bit of activity.

Workers there are preparing the grounds of the St. Mary of the Lake Seminary for the influx of delegates. Carpenters, cement workers, bricklayers and landscape gardeners, are rushing in improvements and promise the immense project will be ready by May 1.

The improvement project entails a cost of $300,000. Included in the work are five arch bridges across the lake; a new $100,000 boat house; rolling, trimming and smoothing of the grass approaches and completion of several tiers of stairways leading down from the Edward Hines memorial chapel.

The stairways will connect the miles of winding paved road, which will be the path of the great delegations when they attend the last mass of the congress at the memorial chapel.

Although plans are incomplete, it is planned to have altars along the roads, which benefactors will be given.

With the exception of one song, when she carried her audience away, Senorita Raquel Meller, who has had kind prizes and every theater audience before whom she has appeared in Europe at her feet, failed to get the expected "triumph" out of her Manhattan audience in her premiere performance last week.

"It cannot be said that they were swept away utterly by the strange, quiet Spanish singer. Her art was too subtle to sway a crowd of U. S. audience that had paid $27.50 a seat to be amused," says "Time," the weekly news magazine. "It had been a great occasion in the theater, one of the few supreme personal triumphs which Meller, who carries eight golden bracelets as mementos of her great successes, was fully entitled to purchase a ninth golden bangle. Yet the barrier of language and the unfamiliarity of a charm that has faithless depths but no tumult had protruded themselves. The audience had been appreciative, engrossed, deeply stirred, but they did not drag her coach home to the hotel."

Temperamentally offended by personal publicity, Raquel Meller, (she pronounces it May-aire) has been the inspiration of much beautiful biography. She was born in Sagorassa, in Aragon, Spain, between thirty and forty years ago. Some say her parents were performers. She was taught to sew at which art she nearly went blind once—and to sing Vespers in a convent, from which she escaped with the help of the gardener's ladder.

She was a young girl when she took her first engagement in a dingy Barcelona fishermen's cafe. She wandered from village to village, city to city, picking up the melodies that are woven through Spanish life. Her King heard of her and commanded a performance. Six years ago she sang in Paris, later in London, Rome, South America. For more than three years impresarios have been trying to lure her to the United States. She finally arrived with three maids, eight dogs and forty-two trunks.

Meller's success is laid to her personality. It is not the song or the dress but the way she sings it. She does not rely on stage settings or trapdoors and seems to cast a spell over her audience with her supple titillation.

Miss Sarah Ellen Kizer, 86, pioneer resident of the Cedarville vicinity, died at her home, four miles east of that village, on the Columbus Pike, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Death was the result of a complication of diseases. Miss Kizer took ill Thanksgiving Day.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Laura Weller and Miss Eliza Kizer, at home.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Selma Cemetery. The Rev. Joseph Bonnet was in charge of the services.

MISS SARAH KIZER DIES ON SATURDAY

Miss Sarah Ellen Kizer, 86, pioneer resident of the Cedarville vicinity, died at her home, four miles east of that village, on the Columbus Pike, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Death was the result of a complication of diseases. Miss Kizer took ill Thanksgiving Day.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Laura Weller and Miss Eliza Kizer, at home.

MRS. THOMAS LOVETT DIES HERE SUNDAY

Mrs. Estella Elizabeth Lovett, 40, wife of Thomas Lovett, died at her home 332 E. Church St., Sunday night at 11:20 o'clock following a week's illness.

She was married to Thomas Lovett January 6, 1923, and moved to Xenia last Friday from her former home on the Valley Road near Trebleins.

Surviving besides her husband, are two brothers, William Gilman, Dayton, and Everett, Marion, O.; and one daughter, Mildred.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, fast time, with interment in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call after 6 p. m. Monday.

Now Phyllis Has Rosy Checks

I always liked Phyllis and I felt sorry for her. She never had many good times. Just pale, and "washed out looking." Tired easily. Never went in for sports like the rest of us. But now, why, I never saw such a change! I hardly knew her. She had gained five pounds. She'd been playing tennis and, honestly, she looked glad to be alive!

"What have you done to yourself?" I demanded. "Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she laughed. "I'm also taking the Pills for Constipation. Better try them yourself."

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health? —Adv.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

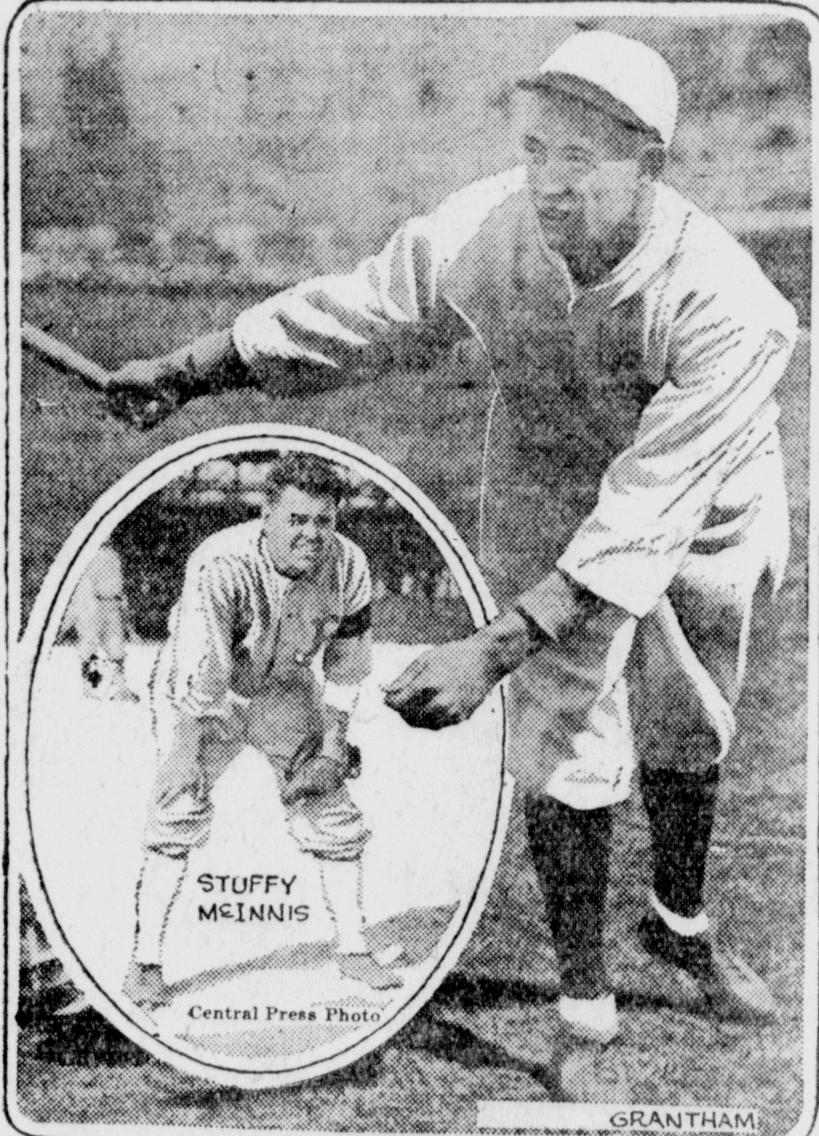

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Sayre's Drug Store and all drug stores—but be sure and ask for McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for thirty days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them. —Adv.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head? "Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. R. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay until it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset? Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your druggist. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice. —Adv.

The Battle's On Again

When Grantham was moved from the Cubs to the Pirates a year ago he had hopes of becoming the Pittsburgh outfit's regular first sacker. He did draw the assignment in 102 of the games played. Then came the world's series. McInnis, injected into the game as a forlorn hope, gave the team the spark which sent it away to victory. Now Grantham must fight to take the first basing job away from McInnis again.

Seek Advance News on Weather With Aerial Explorers in North

William C. Haines and Dr. S. P. Fergusson (inset) of U. S. weather bureau, are going to endeavor to get advance dope on next year's climatic conditions by studying the weather at the North Pole as members of the Byrd aerial arctic expedition. Mr. Haines is seen with an instrument he will take north.

New Effort to Raise S-51 From Ocean Floor Under Way

Crew of navy's most expert divers is preparing for a new effort to raise submarine S-51, which was rammed and sunk off Rhode Island last summer with loss of more than 20 lives. Lieut. Comdr. Edward Ellsberg, commander of the detachment, is seen testing new underwater steel-cutting torch with which it is hoped to penetrate sides of the vessel. Also shown are some of the divers.

For President!

BILLY SUNDAY

Billy Sunday, sensational revivalist, startled his Cincinnati, Ohio, audience by promising to run for President if the major party candidates in 1928 were "wet."

"Thanks!"

Colonel Frank L. Smith who upset the dope in Illinois by defeating Senator William B. McKinley for the Republican Senatorial nomination, was photographed as he thanked his workers over the phone from his home at Dwight, Ill.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Harper Pendry gets so many questions at his Bible Class each Sunday morning he hardly finds time to answer them all. So I have started some competition. Here are a few questions received by me, and here are my answers.

1. Who invented electric illumination? ANS.—A floating gentleman by the name of Noah has that honor. When he let the elephants out of the ark, he made the first Ark light. Let's have the next question.

2. Will radio ever take the place of the newspaper? ANS.—No, you can't start a fire with a radio, and neither can you wrap up a lunch in one. Like the poor, the newspapers we will always have with us.

3. Who is the laziest man in the world? ANS.—The laziest man in the world is a local high school boy who sits up all night to keep from washing his face in the morning.

4. I am a girl 18 years old and am in love with a boy who is one year older than I. I love him dearly. My father is a minister and next Sunday night is going to preach on "Love One Another." Should I take my boy friend to hear father's sermon? ANS.—No. Stay at home in the porch swing and practice what your father preaches.

5. My little boy walks through the woods to a country school and today his teacher sent home a note saying I should get him an encyclopedia. Should I? ANS.—Don't get him any. Let him walk to school, like you and I did. It will do him good. Anyway, a bicycle is good enough for any boy.

6. I am an officer in the humane society. Is there anything in the Bible that refers to cutting off the tails of little puppies? ANS.—Yes, there is. Doesn't it say something some place about "What God hath joined, let no man put asunder."

7. Where is Hell? ANS.—The place where business men say business has gone to.

8. What is the funniest book ever written? ANS.—Ask any one who has bought a copy of that book—"Not Possible to Classify."

TOO FAT? TOO THIN?

By J. J. Tosdt, Director of Physical Education, Wilson Avenue Dept., Y. M. C. A., Chicago

XXVIII. "The JACK KNIFE" This is perhaps about as difficult an abdominal exercise as you can get, yet is safe enough for anybody to try.

Position: Lying on back, hands resting along body, legs flat with heels together.

Exercise: Raise body toward a sitting position, at the same time raising the legs; reach forward beyond legs with hands.

You may not succeed in performing this exercise the first time, but practice will give you control. The body and legs are raised simultaneously from the original recumbent position.

Your position when you complete the upward movement of body and legs is something like a jack knife. Your head should be close to your heels, with your body doubled up, and the only part of your body touching the floor being your seat. Each time you raise body and legs reach forward and see how far beyond the legs you can stretch your hands. On the first trial one or two such movements may be enough, but you can gradually increase the number of movements from day to day.

Tomorrow I will give you the last exercise of the series, which is called the "Bicycle."

BELL OFFICIAL TO ADDRESS ROTARY AT TUESDAY LUNCHEON

H. J. Dible, transmission engineer of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., Cleveland, will address the Xenia Rotary Club, Tuesday evening.

HARVEY J. DIBLE
TRANSMISSION ENGINEER.

ring on "Transmission of Pictures by Wire." This is one of the latest inventions and Mr. Dible is very familiar with the subject.

The process by which pictures are sent over telephone wires was perfected by research engineers of the Bell System and has only been placed on a commercial basis within the last few months. It has, however, been extensively used by newspapers, banks and other lines of business.

Newspaper editors say it has begun to revolutionize the sending of pictures between points distant from each other. The swiftest previous method of sending pictures was by airplane, with many hours required by the fastest schedule from coast to coast.

By the use of wires in transmission of pictures, a photograph of President Coolidge taken in Washington, D. C., can be placed in the hands of newspaper editors of California an hour later. The address will follow the weekly luncheon at the Elks Club.

FUNERAL FOR JOHN HAMILTON TUESDAY

After a lingering illness, John W. Hamilton, 76, passed away at his home, 847 N. King St., Saturday afternoon at 2:50 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Bridget's Church, with interment in Yellow Springs Cemetery.

Mr. Hamilton was born in Yellow Springs, October 5, 1850, the son of John W. and Ann Hamilton. He was employed by the Miami Powder Co., thirty-one years and resided a number of years at Gales Station. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton moved to Xenia fifteen years ago.

Besides his widow, the following children survive: James Hamilton, West Alexandria; Mrs. L. J. Gagner, Yellow Springs; Mrs. Harry Fisher, Xenia; R. Hayes Hamilton, travelogue lecturer, this city and Charles Hamilton, Xenia. One half-brother, Edward Hamilton, of Columbus, also survives.

R. Hayes Hamilton arrived home two weeks ago from California on account of his father's condition.

GREENE COUNTIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Ada McPherson, 69, wife of Mahlon McPherson, Paintersville, died at McClellan Hospital, this city, Saturday at 11:45 p. m. She had been a patient at the hospital since December 21.

Mrs. McPherson was the only child of the late John and Jane Cohagen and was born and lived all of her life near Paintersville. She is survived by her husband.

Funeral services will be held at the Paintersville Church, Tuesday at 2 p. m., Central Standard time, in charge of the Rev. Mr. Carl. Interment will be made in Port William Cemetery.

BELLBROOK

The baccalaureate sermon for the sixteen graduates of the local high school was delivered by the Rev. Griffiths, of the home Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, April 25.

Mrs. Della V. Hopkins and her daughter, Lauradelleana Knor, have returned home after several months spent in Lansing and Detroit, Michigan.

A mock trial, "The Great Pumpkin Case," in which the Daniel Websters and Major Blackburns, of Belmont, demonstrated an ability unrivaled this side of the Supreme Court, drew a large crowd to the town hall on last Saturday night.

George W. Kinder has purchased the property sold by Howard Woods to Dayton parties. We are informed that Mr. Kinder's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ab Miller, and their daughter, will take up their residence there.

James Crowl and Elmer Wetzel were in Xenia Monday receiving their credentials for appraising the real estate of the village.

Harry E. Watson is making extensive improvements on his property on the corner of West and Maple Streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berryhill were bereft of their baby boy

Monday night, only a few hours after birth.

Henry Clay is setting a fast pace for the fishermen of the village. Last week he caught a black sucker which weighed two pounds and six ounces. Later he caught a three-pound catfish, and Tuesday of this week he landed a white sucker which tipped the beam for five pounds and two ounces.

Miss Mande Eavey is seriously ill with hemorrhages of the lungs.

"Thank You" a comic play was presented by the Senior Class of the high school at the new school house, Thursday night.

Judge Marcus Shoup, of Xenia, was in the village Wednesday on legal business, and also looking after his interests in the Nall Keg Circle.

Like the Imperial hosts of Gog and Magog contending for supremacy, the Bellbrook and Centerville high school teams hauled through seven long innings Friday afternoon, with the game finally being captured by the visitors by a score of 9 to 7.

Mrs. Anna Belle Crowl, who had been a resident of the village for almost half a century, died at her home on North Main Street Thursday morning, as the result of a paralytic stroke which she sustained on the previous day. Mrs. Crowl had been in failing health for a number of months, but was thought to be improving in her condition. She was a native of New Jersey. She would have been eighty years of age in June. Her husband, Oscar D. Crowl and their two sons, William and Raymond, preceded her in death. Left to mourn their loss are two grandsons, Lawrence and Cramer Crowl, also two brothers and one sister, Charles and Thomas Cook and Mrs. Sarah Kinzel, who resides in New Jersey. Funeral was held from the M. E. Church of which she was a member, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, her pastor, the Rev. Young, officiating. Burial was made in Bellbrook cemetery.

My Matrimonial Vacation

by VIOLET DARE

AUTHOR OF "The Half-Time Wife," "The Husband Tamer," "One Wife on Approval," etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

NANCY LARRABEE remains in New York with her mother, VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARRABEE, who is an army officer, goes to the Philippines on foreign service. Disillusioned after six months of marriage when she sees another woman in her husband's arms, she plays the social game as her mother dictates, in her relationships with FRANK HARRISON, a wealthy man twice her age, and NICHOLAS WAYNE, whom she really likes.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

VIII—A MAD ADVENTURE

THE stranger whom I'd called Michael turned to me and laughed softly as the door closed behind us.

VIOLET DARE

"How about having a cocktail before we begin explanations?" he asked. "I imagine that they'll take quite some time."

"No, not at all; you'll have them in tabloid form at once," I explained. "I wanted to keep a dinner engagement without letting my mother know about it, and so—well, I invented an old school friend, Louise, with whom I said I was to dine—and when—when—"

"Your father," he supplied, as I hesitated. "Why would people always insist on thinking Frank Harrison was my father?"

"No, just—well, a friend of the family who was at the house, who had asked me to dine with him—well, when he said he'd bring me to Louise's house, I gave an address at random, and then he came to the door with me—and there you were!"

"Delightful! Now, surely you'll stop and talk with me a bit before you rush away to this sub rosa dinner engagement, about which mother and the—the friend of the family—are to know. My name's not Michael, the one you so kindly supplied, but—"

"But why not just be Michael to me?" I asked. "It's dreadful, always having last names and pedigrees attached to everyone. Let's be original."

"Very well. But tell me your name. Nancy—thanks. I'd have called you Diane, but we'll let it rest at Nancy for the present. Now on to the library—I've got a shaker full of particularly good brandy and time lies in there—"

"Oo no, I can't," I said, drawing back. A strange man wasn't so bad, but I had no intention of drinking with him, especially as I don't drink anyway, because it's so bad for the complexion. "I'm very late now, and—"

"I won't hear of it!" he protested. "Certainly I'm to be rewarded for playing up to you so admirably. Come along, little girl!"

I shook my head. "No—I'll stay right here, and you can bring the cocktail shaker to me—make it a sort of stirrup cup, if you insist."

"Bringing Mohammed to the mountain, eh? All right—"

He rushed off down the hall. I quietly opened the front door and slipped out, the moment he was out of sight. Too bad, when he had been so nice—but really, the situation was getting away from me, and when you're a buccaner on the social sea you can't afford to let that happen to you.

around the corner, and hailed a taxi. I gave the driver the address of the Italian restaurant where I was to meet Nick, and drew a deep breath, which turned into a laugh as we passed the very house from which I'd departed so hastily a moment before.

For on the steps, cocktail shaker in hand, was the man I'd called Michael, looking up and down the street like a cat from which a mouse has just escaped.

"Score one for Nancy!" I said to myself. "Too bad to run away, but he's too dangerous to play with."

I blew a kiss to him out of the back window—what a shame that he missed it; I'd have liked to see his face. But then, he might have followed me. And something had warned me that all the little tricks Virginia had taught me might have proved useless against a man of his type. I like a touch of dissipation in a man's face, sometimes, but it's a warning signal from which I fly when I'm all alone with him.

I was awfully late—Nick told me he'd been waiting an hour when I finally arrived, and he was none too pleasant about it, either.

"But I had such a dreadful time getting away," I told him. "Had to break another engagement to get here at all."

I laughed too. He forgave me by the time we reached the second course, and I got him to talk about his work—he was the kind of man who adores doing that. So he talked on and on about the yacht that had just come into port, on which he'd done some work the year before.

He forgave me by the time we reached the second course.

"She's a beauty—the Vashiti," he told me, as enthusiastically as he had been talking about some woman. "I'd love to have you see her. Listen, Nancy, won't you go over her with me some time? I want you to see what I really can do. Of course, one of the big men of the firm designed this boat, but I had a hand in it. I'm so crazy to make something of myself in that line—it's my one hope. I've wasted a lot of time, since—well, since I got pretty hard hit some months ago. I didn't care much, for a while, but lately I've been trying hard, and since I met you, somehow, I've wanted to try even harder."

"Oh, I know that you can do anything you really want to," I told him; being somebody's inspiration is such fun! "I'd love to see the Vashiti."

"Fine. It belongs to a chap named Kirk Jordan, but we won't say anything to him about you going over the boat. He's—well, I wouldn't want you to know him."

A little voice should have whispered a warning to me just then. But it didn't!

"Tomorrow—I need You."

AUTHORITIES PROBE ALLEGED ALCOHOL DEATH

CORONER CONDUCTS INQUEST IN EFFORT TO FIX DEATH BLAME

Carl Rees Victim—Manslaughter May Be Determined

Inquest into the death of Carl William Rees, 21, of 236 Little St., who died sometime between 8 and 9 p. m. Saturday presumably from the effects of drinking Jamaica ginger, was held at the Court House by Coroner R. L. Haines Monday afternoon.

Coroner Haines, assisted by Drs. H. C. Messenger and R. M. McClellan conducted a postmortem examination Sunday morning, removing the contents of the stomach. Analysis has not been completed.

The postmortem was ordered by Prosecutor J. Carl Marshall. Police are co-operating with the coroner and prosecutor in investigating the case.

Evidence introduced at the inquest will determine whether a charge of manslaughter may be placed against the person, as yet unidentified, who furnished the alcoholic drink to Rees.

Rees was born November 13, 1904 and was employed at the R. A. Kelly Co. plant. Surviving are his father, Elmer, and mother, who has remarried; one brother, Harold, at home; one sister, Mildred, Eaton, O., and his grandmother.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. fast time, Tuesday at the home with interment in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call after 6 p. m. Monday.

Peculiar circumstances of the death were made the object of an investigation by Police Chief M. E. Graham Saturday and Sunday.

According to police information, Rees was in the company of four companions until 6 p. m. and had previously imbibed freely of Jamaica ginger. The five youths went to the home of Joe Foley, W. Main St., and Rees later left after the departure of three of his friends.

He was next seen walking along the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks between Second and Main Sts., by Lewis Coates, who had just left his home on W. Main St.

Coates told police Rees was intoxicated and in an effort to "sober him up" took him into his home for a drink of water. Rees, he said, drank part of a tin of water, then mixed a two-ounce bottle of Jamaica ginger with the remainder of the water, and drank this. He repeated the operation with a second bottle, Coates said.

The pair left Coates' home and Rees staggered along for 100 feet and fell down, according to Coates. Coates notified the youth's father, Coates and Patrick Gillespie assisted the elder Rees to place his son in an automobile.

Unable to lift the youth from the car after they had arrived home, Elmer Rees waited until relatives came. The father told police they discovered Rees dead when they took him into the house.

Police and the coroner are unable to establish definitely whether Rees died in the auto or after arriving home.

His death is attributed to an excessive amount of Jamaica ginger, a peculiar brand, commonly used in medicine as a stimulant but containing 90 per cent alcohol.

Coroner Haines is working on the theory Rees obtained the liquor from a Xenia grocer.

BRAWLS END IN DEATH FOR TWO

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 26.—Brawls took a toll of two lives here over the week-end.

Leo Winkle, 50, was killed when six men kicked him down a stairway.

John Wilson, 25, was stabbed to death by an unidentified assailant, during a quarrel.

HOSPITALS FILLED AS RIOTS CONTINUE

CALCUTTA, India, April 26.—Hospitals were overflowing today with wounded Hindu or Moslem rioters and guerilla fighting by members of the sects was taking place in virtually all parts of the city. The riots were interfering with the food supply of the city and European residents were demanding the police and military crush the native squabble by more active measures.

YEGGS GET $4,000

DETROIT, April 26.—Four bandits held up the Detroit Recreation Building offices today, bound eight attendants with adhesive tape, blew the safe and escaped with end bowling and billiard receipts, estimated at $4,000.

MANY CITIES UNITE FOR DAYLIGHT TIME

Yellow Springs, Osborn and Fairfield Now Operate On Fast Schedule—Majority Neighboring Cities In Line

Yellow Springs, Osborn and Fairfield joined Xenia in beginning operation of daylight saving time Sunday.

According to ordinances adopted in all three towns, fast time became effective there at 2 o'clock Sunday morning officially similar to the provisions of the ordinance which became effective here.

The change in time here and in other Greene County towns was simultaneous with the advance to daylight saving time which became effective Sunday in Cincinnati, Columbus, Dayton, Springfield, Urbana, Piqua, Troy, and other cities in this section.

OHIO MUSIC LOVERS INFEST CLEVELAND FOR OPERA PREMIER

House Sold Out For Metropolitan Performance

CLEVELAND, O., April 26.—With hundreds of music lovers from throughout the state pouring into Cleveland today, the "first night" of the Metropolitan Opera promised to climax a brilliant social and melodic season.

A sold-out house was reported by the management for "La Ginevra della Befra," the musical interpretation of Sem Benelli's gripping drama, "The Jest," played first in America by John and Lionel Barrymore.

The operatic version by Umberto Giordano will be sung by Beniamino Gigli, tenor, Lawrence Tibbett, California baritone and Angelo Badal, Mme. Frances Alda is prima donna.

As an after-piece the principal arias from Pagliacci are to be sung by Lucrezia Bori and Giovanni Martinelli.

As "The Jest's" operatic version made its debut in New York this winter, Cleveland is the only music center outside of Gotham to hear it.

Included in the Metropolitan company is Louise Hunter, the grand daughter of Judge W. H. Todhunter, of Middletown, Ohio. Before joining the company, she sang in church choirs in Dayton and Cincinnati.

Her best role, Musetta, in La Boheme, is to be sung at the Saturday evening performance.

INFANT POISONED

CINCINNATI, April 26.—Donald Tuthill, 12, is dead here from poison. The baby was playing when he discovered a bottle containing the fatal draught. He drank of it and died before medical aid could be administered.

VETERAN IS DEAD

LORAIN, O., April 26.—Frank J. George, veteran employee of the American Ship Building Co., is dead at his home here at the age of 55. George had been affiliated with the company for twenty years.

NEW YORK IN LINE

NEW YORK, April 26.—New York has started its annual six months effort to cheat the clock.

At 2 a. m. Sunday clocks in the city and in many of the towns and cities of this and other sections were moved forward one hour.

The change was accomplished without confusion.

FARM LEGISLATION GIVEN PRIVILEGED STATUS ON PROGRAM

Agricultural Bills To Be Considered By House

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Farm relief legislation was given a privileged status on the house program today as leaders prepared a schedule which they hope will permit an adjournment of the session by May 15.

Thursday and Friday of this week have been held open for the consideration of bills from the agricultural committee.

Should the committee be ready to proceed before this time, however, the program will be advanced.

The rules committee stands ready to grant a rule for consideration of the rules with debate limited to four hours. Without passing upon the merits of any proposals, the agriculture committee has voted to submit three divergent relief measures to the house.

The Trencher bill which appropriates $100,000,000 for a revolving fund for loans to farmers co-operative associations has received special attention from the administration and will have many friends in the house.

The National Farm Board equiptment with a $25,000,000 revolving fund for use in maintaining prices of basic crops at their world market quotations is proposed in a bill by Chairman Hugen.

The Curtis-Aswell bill which also be submitted to the house, provides $10,000,000 for administrative work in a program by which farmers would finance themselves through national associations.

Tomorrow the house will consider the Green bill, creating separate bureaus of prohibition in the treasury department.

VETERANS TO MEET AT TIFFIN JUNE 6

TIFFIN, O., April 26.—(UP)—Preparations for entertaining northwest Ohio Spanish War veterans here June 6, were started by the Colonel Koert Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, of this city.

More than 500 members of the organization from twenty-one northwestern Ohio counties will attend. The women's auxiliary will also hold a meeting here at the same time.

KILLED BY BLAST

DENISON, O., April 26.—Earl Newton, 38, was killed and his companion, Samuel Fleim, 48, was seriously injured in an explosion at the Wolf Lanning Clay Company mine near here. A drill used by the men in preparing to fire a blast ignited a "dead" shot.

FALLS TO DEATH

CINCINNATI, April 26.—Freeman Jeffers, 33, bled to death after he fell down stairs. Jeffers' jugular vein was severed when he crashed through a glass door at the bottom of the stair case.

WINTER RETURNS TO OHIO WHEN FREEZING WEATHER PREVAILS

COLUMBUS, April 26.—Winter returned to Ohio last night and today with freezing temperatures in some sections and snow fall in others.

Snow fell in the northern and northwestern sections of the state with promises of rising temperatures this afternoon.

Although the cold wave was general there were clear skies and it was expected that normal spring temperatures will be recorded before sundown.

The state board of agriculture was speculating today as to whether the cold nipped blooming fruit trees.

Fruit growers in central Ohio, said today they believed the frost which visited this section was too light to do any damage. It would require almost a "winter freeze" to damage the maturing blossoms, they said.

One Killed In Auto Crash

SEVEN INJURED AS MACHINE HITS POLE AND ROLLS IN DITCH

Snow Causes Car Wheels To Skid On Short Turn

PERRYSBURG, O., April 26.—One man was killed and seven persons were injured, two perhaps fatally, when an automobile crashed into a telephone pole and rolled down a fifteen-foot embankment along the Dixie Highway near here today.

Henry Smith, Lockland, O., driver of the vehicle, was killed outright.

The injured: Sherman Randall, Lockland. Loretta Randall, Randall's 16-month-old daughter.

Mrs. Sherman Randall. Sherman Randall, Jr., 3. Mrs. Pearl Leach, 24, Hamtramck, Mich.

Joseph Leach, 4. Mrs. Leach's son. Rose Leach, 6. Mrs. Leach's daughter.

The injured were suffering from severe bruises, cuts and exposure when taken to hospitals in Toledo.

A light snow was falling as the machine bearing its passengers sped around a curve.

The wheels skidded on the slippery pavement, catapulting the vehicle into a telephone pole and down the embankment.

The ditch into which the car plunged, was filled with water. The crash victims were partially submerged before they were able to free themselves. A passing motorist discovered the accident and summoned aid from the home of Adam Leydorf, a farmer.

Calls for aid were sent to Toledo and Perrysburg.

The dead and injured could not be extricated until the wrecked automobile had been raised.

It was believed several of those injured would die.

WETS AND DRY TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A national campaign designed to reach every city, town, hamlet and crossroads in the United States, is being planned by wets and dries here as a result of the senate prohibition investigation.

The purpose is to whip up sentiment for each side so that the full strength of both dries and wets will be brought to the polls in the November congressional elections.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment issued a statement today charging the Anti-Saloon League is raising one million dollars for its campaign. In turn the Anti-Saloon League issued a statement denying the charge and charging instead the Association Against Prohibition is raising $300,000.

Both sides, however, made no secret of their intention to put forward the greatest possible drive to arouse the country to the issue.

CONGRESS TODAY SENATE

Considers proposed settlement of $417,780,000 Belgian debt.

Special joint committee reports Muscle Shoals bid.

Special committee resumes federal tariff commission investigation.

HOUSE

Considers District of Columbia business.

Is She America's Prettiest?

Miss Dorothy Hughes, of Brooklyn, N. Y., has probably been chosen "most beautiful" more often than any other girl in the United States. She won the Atlantic City title, "Miss America," twice, was two-times winner of the beauty championship of New York City, was selected by Joseph Cummings Chase, artist, as America's most lovely woman, and David Wark Griffith, movie director, says she is the typical American girl and the most perfect flapper.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE FOUNDER OUTLINES ORGANIZATION PLANS

Will Revive County Councils To Obtain Co-Operation In Support Of Eighteenth Amendment, Said.

(At the request of the United Press, Dr. Howard Russell, Westerville, Ohio, founder of the Anti-Saloon league of America who is attending the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, has outlined in the following article the proposed future activities of the league on a national scale.)

By Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, Founder of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

DETROIT, April 26.—For several months the Anti-Saloon League of America in co-operation with state leagues, has been planning for revival and reorganization of county councils to give local co-operation in support of the eighteenth amendment.

This plan is based on the theory that "what is everybody's business is nobody's business and should be made somebody's business."

Quickly but with vigor and definite strategy, committees of carefully picked men and women are being selected to do the necessary work. In most of the states at least three county committees are deemed essential.

One of these is a "committee on agitation and publicity," to keep the people informed and to answer attacks against the law.

"A stand by" committee, as its name implies, is made up of citizens definitely organized to support enforcement officials in the performance of their duty.

The "stand by" committee, assists in getting specific facts of law violation, it backs up the officials at the primary if they do their duty and works back to them out of office if they don't. Other objectives of this committee are to help assure the election of candidates favorable to enforcement, to congress and the state legislatures.

The other committee, sometimes called the "Junior Patriots" works to promote the teaching of loyalty to the constitution in public schools.

KILLED BY STORM

FINDLAY, O., April 26.—John P. Packer, 61, was killed during a storm here when an uprooted tree crashed down upon him. His wife witnessed the tragedy.

DIES OF INJURIES

NEW LEXINGTON, O., April 26.—Martin Quigley, 64, coal miner, died at his home here from injuries sustained in an accident.

NATIONS CONVENE AT ECONOMIC MEET

ROME, April 26.—The first serious establishment of a "united economic states of Europe" began here today when a commission representing twenty different nations convened for the purpose of preparing for an international economic conference to be held next year under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Economic experts from the United States are among the conferees.

The preparatory commission is composed exclusively of men chosen as private experts who in no way are official representatives of the countries from which they come.

CIRCUS FREAKS MOURN DEATH OF ZIP

"What-Is-It" Dies Of Pneumonia After Long Career

NEW YORK, April 26.—The fat lady and the thin man, the sword-swallower and the snake charmer, Major Mite, the midget Cliko, the African bushman and Jim Carver, the Texas giant, joined today in mourning the passing of "Zip, the What-is-it."

Zip died at a hospital here after a career of some sixty-five years as probably the most famous of circus freaks. His real name was William Henry Johnson. But P. T. Barnum, in the early days of his career, saw him, noted his queer figure, his protruding nose and his comical head topped with a tuft of hair and named him "Zip."

Barnum put him in his museum and there thousands paid their money to look upon him.

Among them was Charles Dickens, the novelist.

"What is it?" Dickens asked.

"That's it—what is it?" said Barnum and the name was complete.

Zip was the keynote—or at least one of the important keystones—of Barnum's success and fortune. For himself, he always lived in comfort. He had a farm at Bound Brook, N. J., which was his home, but most of his years, he spent wandering the country over with the circus.

Capt. O. K. White for years was his manager, friend and protector. For his associates, he had the other queer people of the circus and among them, he was the most popular of all.

Two weeks ago, while showing at Madison Square Garden, here he fell ill from pneumonia. Charles Ringling, of the circus offered no expense to be spared in caring for the "What-is-it." None was.

But he suffered a relapse and death came in a matter of hours.

Wednesday he will be buried.

RIFFIAN PEACE IS THOUGHT PROBABLE

PARIS, April 26.—Peace between the Rifians and France and Spain in Morocco emerged from the realm of improbability today.

Announcement was made at the Quai d'Orsay that France and Spain had waived Rifian acceptance of preliminary terms first presented to Emir Abd El Krim's representatives at Oudjda, a week ago Sunday.

Efforts to obtain peace on new terms will begin today or tomorrow, according to the announcement. An armistice already exists in Morocco, although no armistice has been signed.

Under the present plan, tracks on S. Detroit St. will be taken up and some means devised to take care of the financial end of repairing the street. Tracks on E. Main St. will be left untouched as they will be in fine condition for many years to come. The Lake St. extension to the Home is without foundation and can be torn up easily without great expense.

AUTOS CLAIM THREE DEATHS

CLEVELAND, O., April 26.—Three persons were dead here today, the result of automobile accidents. They were:

Otto Tetzlaff, 41, who fell in front of a bus.

Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, 48, killed when run down by an automobile.

Nicholas Novach, 69, died from injuries received when an automobile ran him down.

ATTORNEY NAMED TO PROSECUTE FRAUD

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—Attorney General Crabbe today announced the appointment of Wilbur E. Benoy, his special assistant to prosecute C. C. Truax, Darke County dealer in securities, indicted on charges of making a false financial statement.

The false statement, according to Crabbe was made in connection with publication of the assets of Soyce Mills Co., food products manufacturers of Greenville and Circleville. The company is now bankrupt.

Truax was charged with padding the company's financial statement to the extent of $300,000.

FRANCE WILL PAY DEBT TO BRITISH

PARIS, April 26.—A preliminary agreement of the Franco-British debt commission has been reached providing for a payment of some thing less than $25,000,000 to Great Britain this year. The ministry of finance announced today.

TRACTION COMPANY PERMITTED TO HALT BRANCH OPERATION

To Attempt Agreement On Street Repair After Removal

Despite objections of city officials, Federal Judge Smith Hickenlooper ruled the Dayton, Springfield and Xenia Southern Railway Co., may discontinue Xenia local service to the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' Home on S. Detroit St. and to the corporation line on E. Main St., at a hearing in United States District Court, Cincinnati, Saturday.

The court, however, suggested that a compromise might be effected between the city and the traction company regarding necessary repairs to the street incident to tearing up the tracks on S. Detroit St., from Main St. to a point where the paving terminates on S. Detroit St.—a distance of 4,800 feet, nearly a mile.

Ruling against the city was made in view of a contention of Robert K. Landis, receiver, that the line was a financial failure, was operating at a loss and that necessary repairs to the street and right-of-way would make continued service more of a burden than the company could bear in its present financial condition.

Receiver Landis pointed out the service has been a losing proposition and suffers a net loss of more than $5,000 yearly—a deficit that has continued to increase annually.

City Solicitor J. A. Finney, Attorney H. D. Smith, special counsel for the city, Mayor John Prugh, City Auditor T. H. Zell and City Manager S. O. Hale represented the city at the hearing, maintaining the company should be required to operate local service under terms of the twenty-five year franchise which expired two years ago. They admitted figures of the company were accurate and that repairs were needed.

In addition to ordering discontinuance of the service, Judge Hickenlooper ordered that the company dispose of its track from Market St. to the Fairground Road, to the Springfield and Xenia Traction Co.

This company has evidenced a desire to purchase the property, now used by it, for a number of years in order to make necessary repairs to the line. There is a possibility new rails may be laid on this division.

The court suggested that the traction company and city officials devise some method to work out their difficulties of a new franchise for continued interurban service to Dayton jointly.

Company engineers and representatives were to come to Xenia Monday to investigate the matter of repairing the Detroit St. tracks. Later a tentative franchise may be submitted to City Commission.

Under the present plan, tracks on S. Detroit St. will be taken up and some means devised to take care of the financial end of repairing the street. Tracks on E. Main St. will be left untouched as they will be in fine condition for many years to come. The Lake St. extension to the Home is without foundation and can be torn up easily without great expense.

XENIA CHAUTAUQUA SCHEDULED ON JULY 8 TO 14 ANNOUNCED

July 8 to 14 is announced as chautauqua week in Xenia. Perhaps the outstanding feature of an exceptionally strong program is the Moscow Artists Ensemble, a group of Russian entertainers including singers, balalaika instrumentalists and the premiere danseuse, Mile. Nina Sergeyeva. Elaborate costuming and scenery will be introduced.

Next in program importance are the two great plays, "The Fool," and the three-act comedy, "Applesauce." When "The Fool," of which Channing Pollock is author, was first presented in New York City it was necessary to give daily matinees to accommodate the crowds. At the Times Square Theater 350,000 people witnessed the play in less than eight months. It has been proclaimed "the greatest success in the history of the American theater."

It has been less than a year since Barry Connors' triumphant comedy "Applesauce," was available for New Yorkers. Previous to that time it ran for a solid season at the LaSalle Theater in Chicago where, press reports relate, audiences "ate it up." During the first eleven weeks in Chicago "Applesauce" played to more than 100,000 patrons. It is a play sharply spiced with humor, and exceptionally palatable.

D. Thomas Curtin, international newspaper correspondent and former secretary to Lord Northcliffe, will discuss current events at chautauqua. Charles H. Hattenburg, western editor, will lecture on "The Old Town in a New World." Sam Grathwell will discuss "Getting by Your Hoodoo." John H. Dickason will describe "Young America at Bat." Anne Campbell of the Detroit News will be heard as "The Poet of the Home." Harrison Crofford, southern entertainer, will give a dramatic program. Howard Wade Kimes, one of America's foremost song leaders, will introduce community singing. Al Baker, magician and ventriloquist, is slated for a special junior program.

Chautauqua patrons will be especially interested in a scenic production, "Echoes of the Alps," in which two groups of Alpine Yodlers are combined in an unusual program. Harold Lewis and his Symphony Players constitute another high spot of chautauqua week. They are scheduled for the opening program, July 8.

ROOSEVELT CABIN TO BECOME MUSEUM

BISMARCK, N. D., April 26.—Landscaping which will reproduce the original setting in the Bad Lands will be undertaken on the grounds surrounding the Roosevelt cabin at the capitol here. The cottage which the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt occupied when as a young man he came to North Dakota to seek health was moved here from the Roosevelt ranch near Medora. Formal opening will be held on June 15. Five thousand tourists visited the cabin last year. A Roosevelt museum has been started.

Chronic Peritonitis is often due to intestinal tuberculosis when it does not result as an after-effect from an acute attack. The characteristic symptom is pain and tenderness over the abdominal area with more or less distension caused by the presence of a watery fluid. When this morbid secretion involves the whole of the abdominal membrane, an acute process may supervene, with a fatal ending.

In the treatment of chronic peritonitis it is necessary to adopt constitutional measures for building up the highest possible degree of vitality and accomplishing such a radical purification of the blood stream as will enable the system to eradicate the disease thoroughly and permanently. It is best to give the entire alimentary canal a complete rest, and for this reason a fast is urgently recommended. The longer the fast the more effective, although its duration will naturally be determined by the strength and weight of the patient. If of normal weight or above, a fast which is termed a long fast should be undertaken. In this particular method of fasting one should drink water whenever there is a thirst for it. As a rule when a long fast is needed, after a week or ten days the tongue becomes thickly coated and the breath exceedingly foul, showing the extreme activity of the purifying processes. This fast should be continued until the tongue is clean, and until there is a distinct desire for some particular article of food that is known to be wholesome in character. A breaking-fast regimen consisting of three meals of acid fruit only. The first meal to be a quarter of a pint of fruit juice made from some acid fruit. Fresh fruit is usually preferable to juices that have been bottled; for instance the juice of a fresh orange or grapefruit is best to use. The second day take three meals of double the quantity of fruit juice. The third day three meals each consisting of one or two oranges, the pulp of the orange to be eaten if desired. The fourth day, if you are going on a milk diet, take some acid fruit on arising and a quarter of a pint of milk every two hours while awake. The fifth day a half pint of milk every two hours, the sixth day half pint of milk every hour, the seventh day half a pint of milk every half hour and so on.

FEWER HOMELESS IN LONDON IS REPORT

LONDON, April 26.—The annual census of homeless persons in London this year recorded only 100, of which twenty-four were women. This novel census has been taken every year since 1903, when the homeless numbered 1,797. The census is taken by police and County Council officials during a certain night, and is a helpful index for relief measures.

The grim shadows of the Embankment still draw most of the homeless. On the night of the census most of the seats along the right bank of the river from Blackfriars Bridge to Westminster Bridge were occupied by desolate men and women. Here the police do not disturb them, and the famous district likewise continues to attract writers seeking material on the sadder sides of life, dreamers and philosophers. During the later years of the war the Embankment began to lose its picturesque character, but instead of passing it has in recent years revived, and after midnight the shadows now carry much the same story that the Embankment has told for many generations.

FISHER DROWNED
COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—Arthur J. Slay, 43, was drowned in Muskingum River at Adams Mills, O., when his boat capsized, according to information received here. Slay was fishing when the boat overturned, advices said.

were removed to the hospital.

Mahoney said he and his companions had a "drinking bout" in the laundry Saturday afternoon unknown to guards and other prisoners.

GENERAL PATRICK

VIEWS MIMIC WAR

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chief of the U. S. army air service was a spectator of the "war" at Wright field, Monday.

He arrived in Dayton Monday and went immediately to the "battle fields" where the pursuit, bombardment and attack squadrons of the army air service are battling.

Most spectacular phases of the mimic war took place Monday.

For the time being the air service was divided within itself as the bombers and attack ships became the enemies of the pursuit flyers.

Sent out on an hour's flight the bombardment and attack ships were free to return to Wright field in any direction they chose.

The pursuit squadron was notified by a delicate sounding device which foretold fifteen to twenty minutes in advance, of the approach of the "hostile" aircraft and left the direction of their coming an open question.

The pursuit squadron took the air immediately and attacked the invaders.

MONDAY VIOLATORS

ON POLICE BLOTTER

ANSWER TO CHARGES

The usual large number of weekend arrests of intoxicated persons and of motorists for exceeding the speed limit or violating some other provision of the city traffic ordinance were recorded on the police blotter Monday.

Five men were fined for intoxication, four motorists were assessed small fines for speeding, one drew a penalty for failure to observe the alternating stop and go traffic signal and another may face charges of intoxication and operating an auto while intoxicated.

Uriah Hedgepath, colored, may face the two last-named charges following his arrest Saturday night by Patrolmen Charles Thompson, Fred Jones, George Spencer and George Robinson.

After he had driven his auto into another car parked on E. Main St., owned by David Dimons. Damage was slight. He was to appear before Mayor John Prugh Monday afternoon.

Raymond Trusty, 22, Earl Harris, 39, and John Collins, all colored, this city, arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen George Robinson were each fined by Mayor Prugh following guilty pleas to intoxication.

Trusty and Collins drew $10 fines and costs and Harris $20 and costs. Collins also agreed to leave the city.

Herman Lohr, 47, arrested Saturday night by Patrolman Fred Jones, and Hollie Nickens, colored, Springfield, arrested Saturday night by Patrolmen Fred Jones, Peter Shagin and George Robinson, were each fined $10 and costs for intoxication. They pleaded guilty.

John Brakeall, Alfred Trojke, E. W. Earhart, and David Allen, arrested over the weekend by Motorcycle Policeman Peter Shagin, were each fined $5 and costs for speeding. E. C. Baker was fined $1 and costs for driving past the red light.

SANDUSKY, O., April 26.—(UP)—The graves of the several hundred officers of the Confederacy buried in the federal prison cemetery on Johnson's Island, Sandusky Bay, near here, will be decorated by Sandusky Rotarians on Memorial Day, it was announced today.

The Rotary club received a communication from the Daughters of the Confederacy of Cincinnati, recalling a promise and asking whether the Daughters could be of any service in carrying it out, was read. The club introduced Dr. Julius Kramer to advise the Daughters that "the promise would be kept."

The promise was made voluntarily last year when, following Memorial Day, it was discovered the island graves had been entirely overlooked.

DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME TAKES

EFFECT IN SPITE OF PROTESTS

Daylight Saving time was ushered into Xenia Sunday morning, under provision of a city ordinance, despite a threatened move by those opposed to advanced time to enjoin the new time from becoming effective.

The new time, opposed by a small body of Greene County residents, precipitated a controversy which had apparently reached a head, Monday.

Protesters sponsored a movement for a meeting of all Xenia business men, including both those favoring and those opposed to Daylight Saving time at City Hall Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, fast time.

An open invitation was circulated among merchants to meet jointly with city commissioners and informally discuss the question with them.

The petition will be presented to City Commission in an effort to influence that body to repeal the Daylight Saving ordinance now in effect, it is said.

County Commissioners voted unanimously Saturday not to change the Court House clock to fast time. This move was made, commissioners said, in response to the wishes of a committee representing standard time supporters. The committee was appointed at a meeting of twenty protesters in the Court House basement Saturday afternoon. County Commissioners are Herman Eavey, J. Harve Lackey, and A. E. Boen.

Unconfirmed rumors were also afloat Monday which may develop into actual attempt to have the "town clock" declared by commissioners a city nuisance, because it is contrary to city ordinance.

Neighboring cities also went on Daylight Saving time Sunday including Dayton, Springfield, Cincinnati, Troy, Piquette, Urbana and Yellow Springs, Osborn and Fairfield villages.

Traction cars and buses adopted fast time but trains ran per schedule on standard time.

Daylight Saving time became effective under a city ordinance passed May 8, 1924, which provides for one hour more of daylight between the last Sunday in April and last Sunday in September.

J. HOWARD ADAMS IS

SUMMONED BY DEATH

J. Howard Adams, 59, Yellow Springs musician, died Sunday morning at 12:30 o'clock at Mrs. Emma W. Smith's Sanitarium, that village.

His death was caused by dropsy and followed a lingering illness.

Mr. Adams would have reached his sixtieth birthday May 15. He was well known in the vicinity and taught violin for several years. He was twice married, both wives predeceasing him in death. He had no children.

Three brothers, J. W. Adams, Yellow Springs, and two others who reside in the West, survive.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Littleton's Undertaking Parlor, Yellow Springs, with interment in Glen Forest Cemetery, that place.

SUICIDES WHILE

WITH SWEETHEART

STREUBENVILLE, O., April 26.—(UP)—A rigid investigation was under way here today into the death of James Bretell, 27, son of a prominent coal dealer, who shot and killed himself in the presence of Miss Doris Crabtree, 26.

Bretell and Miss Crabtree were betrothed according to police. They were sitting together in Bretell's automobile when the man suddenly pulled a revolver from his clothing and shot himself.

Badly frightened, Miss Crabtree ran through the streets screaming. She finally was overtaken and told of the shooting.

Neither Miss Crabtree nor relatives could advance a motive for Bretell's deed. Miss Crabtree is the daughter of a prominent Wellsburg, W. Va. family.

FRENCH MARSHAL

LEAPS OVER TABLE

PARIS, APRIL 26.—Marshal Lyautey, who retired last year as resident general of Morocco because of precarious health, provoked a banquet here that now, at the age of seventy-four, he is by no means a feeble old man.

His speech was wildly applauded by fellow colonial officers and the distinguished soldier jumped over a table. He then turned to General Buean of the Algerian cavalry and ordered, "Jump, Buean."

The general jumped. Then the marshal challenged one of the younger officers, Colonel Faure of the Eleventh Cuirassiers, with "Jump, Faure." With considerable effort the Colonel complied.

Adams died from acute dilation of the heart, the coroner announced.

Although the three convicts are in a serious condition, Thomas said prison physicians had advised him they would live. All the prisoners including Adams were employed in the prison laundry.

Morton said they obtained the alcohol from the soap house and mixed it with fruit juices secured from cans thrown away in the kitchen.

Adams was stricken Saturday night, Thomas revealed. Sunday his condition became critical and he was removed to the prison hospital, where he lost consciousness and died.

The coroner was summoned immediately and the other three, Adams, Morton and Thomas, were taken to the prison hospital.

THE NEW LEISURE

THIS is an amazing age. As the street urchin would say, it has "done wonders." If there was anything new under the sun undone at the end of the nineteenth century, it has been achieved during the twenty-five years and some odd months that have since elapsed.

The automobile and airplane have replaced the covered wagon.

Tractors and harvesting machines do the work of the horse-drawn single-blade plow and the scythe.

Typewriters have made curiosities of goose-quill pens.

Electric lights are turning into day the pitchy nights of the tallow candle.

The radio and telegraphy have annihilated distance.

Good roads and modern methods of transportation have abolished rural isolation.

Industrial development and introduction of the machine into industry have increased production and shortened the working day.

All there is left for civilized man to do is to learn to take the fullest advantage of the products of his own ingenuity and to make the best possible use of the new leisure they bring him. What does leisure profit a man if he wastes it?

If the American people made of the right stuff they will use their increased leisure in improving themselves physically, mentally and financially. In the past they have always proven their sterling worth and there is no reason to believe they will fail in this new test.

THE ENVIED BACHELOR

IT HAS been proposed in the French parliament to limit the yearly income of bachelors to $20,000. English bachelors are being forced out of their multimillionaire apartments to make room for bridal pairs and families with children. In Saxony the government collects a tax from tourist bachelors. In the United States the nearest thing to a bachelor tax is the lower income tax exemption but that also applies to the spinster and the greater exemption for the married man covers two taxables.

Nobody loves the bachelor, but it is apparent that he is greatly envied. Perhaps it is because society rather pities the spinster that the penalizing of spinsterhood has not been advocated.

It would be interesting to know what classes lobby for bachelor taxes and penalties. Perhaps they are the militarists and super-patriots tormented by the perpetual worry over race suicide and national birth-rates. Investigation might find many spinsters and mothers having marriageable daughters in the anti-bachelor bloc. And it is not without the realm of possibility that not a few unwilling and unhappy bachelors, craving company in their misery, are behind this move to drive all eligible men into matrimony.

These attacks on man's single state attach no significance to the oft heard expression "Pity the poor bachelor" and will no doubt dissuade many from matrimony. As a forbidden fruit bachelorhood should become increasingly popular.

Every once in a while you dislike a chap who really has nothing against him except the fact that he's too numerous.

SUITING EVERYBODY

A new London play has two endings—one tragic, the other "happy." On Saturday nights and holidays the happy ending is inserted, while at the other performances the play ends tragically. Both endings fit the play appropriately, and British dramatic critics are divided as to which is the better.

Here is a stage innovation which is logical, although it smacks of commercialism. Stage successes are measured by popular approval and it is well known that to many theatre-goers a "sad ending" spoils an otherwise good play. That this is an attempt to satisfy both camps, there can be no doubt.

What interests the student of human nature, however, is why the producer employs the "happy ending" only on Saturday nights and holidays. Is it because London Saturday and holiday audiences are comprised of different classes than make up the audiences of other nights? Predominating in the Saturday and holiday show crowd in this country are the working classes and out-of-town visitors, and it is not unlikely that a like condition exists in London.

But why not a play with two endings? Where two diametrically opposite tastes can be gratified, why not gratify both? The "high brow" will have his tragedy and the "low brow" will be amused, if not by the same play then by two plays.

FIFTY YEARS OF PUBLIC SERVICE

THE first transcontinental telephone line was established from New York to San Francisco only eleven years ago, by way of Chicago and Denver.

A second transcontinental line has recently been completed from Los Angeles through Texas to New Orleans, with lateral lines connecting at San Francisco with the first continental line; from El Paso to Denver and from Fort Worth to Chicago, as well as the existing lines from New Orleans north.

To think that the telephone was unknown until but 50 years ago is almost inconceivable. Its phenomenal growth has been due to its practical usefulness and the fact that its officials have always been men of highest ability.

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK

Lamb en Casserole: Tuesday evening's guest dinner will call for Leg of Lamb. On Wednesday evening the lamb left-overs will be used as follows: Slice cold roast lamb thin and place a layer of it in the bottom of a buttered baking dish; sprinkle with salt and pepper, add a layer of cooked macaroni, then add another layer of the lamb, more seasoning, still another layer of the macaroni, etc., until the dish is full. Pour a tomato sauce over all (made by thickening canned tomatoes with a little cornstarch), top with dry bread crumbs, and bake fifteen to twenty minutes in a hot oven. Serve hot.

Ramekin Peas: There is nothing more delicious than simple boiled peas, yet often the family or a guest relishes a change to a more elaborate method of serving them. Butter six individual glass baking dishes, or earthen ramekins. To one cupful of cooked and mashed peas add two tablespoons of melted butter, one-half teaspoon of salt, a dash of pepper, and two well-beaten eggs. Divide this mixture between the little dishes, slip all in a moderate oven set in pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper, and bake twenty-five minutes, or till firm. Serve with an ordinary white sauce to which you have added a few extra cooked, whole peas.

Spanish Cream: Scald three cups of sweet milk with one tablespoon of granulated sugar, then add one-half cup of granulated sugar, and turn the mixture onto three beaten egg-yolks. Return to top of the double boiler and cook till it thickens, stirring constantly. Remove again from fire, add a pinch of salt, one teaspoon of vanilla, and three eggwhites beaten stiff. Wet six individual molds and turn the mixture into them. Set aside to harden. Serve cold with the following:

Strawberry Sauce: Cream one-half cup of butter with one cup of powdered sugar. Add the white of one egg stiffly whipped, and two-thirds of a cup of fresh, ripe strawberries sliced. Beat till the

FAITH IN SOMEONE ELSE

It is a little strange how just faith works. Especially when that faith comes out of the heart of someone else and is applied to you.

We keep our chins quite a deal higher because someone else has faith in us.

We are so closely knit one to another, after all. This is illustrated in public calamities. Everybody feels them and wants to help the strangest stranger.

The misfortunes of others touch us because we, too, have had them. We have wanted people to pat us on the back, encouraging us. And so we take our opportunity to pat someone else on the back.

In reading a lovely little book the other evening, called "Footsteps in a Parish" by John Timothy Stone, I came across this sentiment about the man for whom the book was written: "To know Dr. Babcock well, to realize what a friend he could be—one must have trouble."

Faith given one in trouble often changes the course of one's life. A large number of the failures that are strewn all about us are failures largely because faith wasn't poured their way.

When somebody has faith in us, and we know it, then we begin to climb.

But just let one person who is near and dear to us lose faith in us—and the sun goes behind a cloud at once.

We would rather have our pay in this life come to us in the shape of faith in us than in any other way.

Then why not put your faith in someone else? Why not keep giving your faith away—out at "interest," for instance?

A Raw, Sore Throat

Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

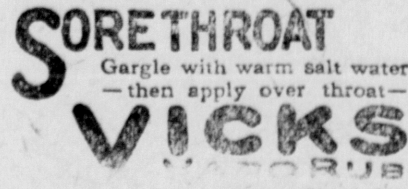

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. Brings quick relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest. ## MODISH MITZI—Should Mitzi Have More Or Less Hair? BY J. V. JAY

When one has to do something to hair nowadays one consults the "bobber." Mitzi is about to do the preliminaries to having her hair cut long but that was before she saw this fascinating bob with the swirling frontpiece. It might be becoming. It's worth consideration anyway.

On the other hand, there is this very short cut. There is something about showing the entire ear particularly, when it is a nice, small one that is very, er, appealing. Mitzi thinks she'll have a very short cut, it will be handy for summer. It's smart. And well, there are so many good arguments for it. Just as many or more than for long hair.

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, April 26.—Major League baseball this season offers a number of most interesting problems that will compel the attention of those fans who are not merely concerned with bare scores.

Interest naturally will follow the attempts of the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Washington Senators to defend their championships and the efforts of the New York Giants, the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees to get into the world's series.

With two or more fairly evenly matched clubs battling for the pennants in the big leagues, there will be enough to occupy the attention of studious fans but there are other sources of interest such as:

What will Babe Ruth do?

What effect will the use of resin have in the National League?

How many young ball players will make the grade?

What effect will the new sacrifice fly rule have on batting averages?

Despite the ups and downs that he has been through, Babe Ruth is still the most spectacular figure in baseball and he will be watched more than ever this season.

The Babe is in actual danger of his fame, his pay and his job this year. He is no longer the Yankee baseball team. He is just an outfielder on a team with several colorful youngsters who will steal his place in the affection of the fans as soon as he fails to deliver.

Ruth has been a poor business man but he was shrewd enough to know that it was strictly a business proposition for him to play Ruth baseball this season. The $52,000 contract, which expires this season, was given to him for being Babe Ruth and even the big hearted Cal Jake Ruppert will not renew a $52,000 a year contract for an outfielder who can be replaced at any time by Ben Paschal and Nick Cullip who can play just as well and hit just as well as the Babe has been hitting recently.

The Yankees, during the height of the Babe's glory were a colorless ball club. But they are not a colorless club now. In Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig and Lou Gehrig, the team has three spectacular players who also have that appeal to the stands that baseball knows as color.

If the Babe doesn't deliver he will soon be forgotten because the baseball fan has no room in his garage for memories. He is concerned principally and entirely with what is being done on the field.

The Babe is in better physical condition than he was last year but he hasn't been able to get going and he is of the temperament that is subject to dangerous worry.

July and August will tell which of the youngsters who came up from the minor leagues in the spring will be able to last through the season but at this time it seems certain that Lazzeri, Warner, Ryne, Christensen, Koenig, and a few others will last.

Indications point to a southpaw pitcher's battle between Peters for the Athletics and a Bayliff twirler, who is announced to be "just as good" as Clarence "Dick" Wells, star Bowersville right-hander. It is said Wells will join the Greenfield team this summer.

Farrell to cover European sports

Henry L. Farrell, United Press sport editor, former Xenian, is sailing next Saturday from New York to take charge of the European United Press and United News sports service for the season.

The team of American amateur golfers, headed by Bobby Jones and including Watts Gunn, Roland MacKenzie, George Von Elm, Francis Oumet, Bob Gardner, Gess Guilford and Jess Sweetser will sail accompanied by Mr. Farrell, on the Aquitania.

Farrell will arrive in England in time to cover the final rounds of the British women's golf championships at Harlech, Wales.

From May 10, when the women's golf championship starts, until July 3, when the Wimbledon tennis championship closes, there will be a continuous success of big golf and tennis classics in which the greatest players in the world will compete.

RESERVE CONTEST HALTED BY WEATHER

The weather man was unkind to Xenia baseball fans Sunday afternoon, when a mixture of wet grounds and unseasonable weather necessitated postponement of the scheduled game between the Xenia Reserves and Dayton Collegians at Washington Park.

Weather Sunday was more adaptable to baseball than baseball and biting winds precipitated the mercury down to unreasonable depths in the tube.

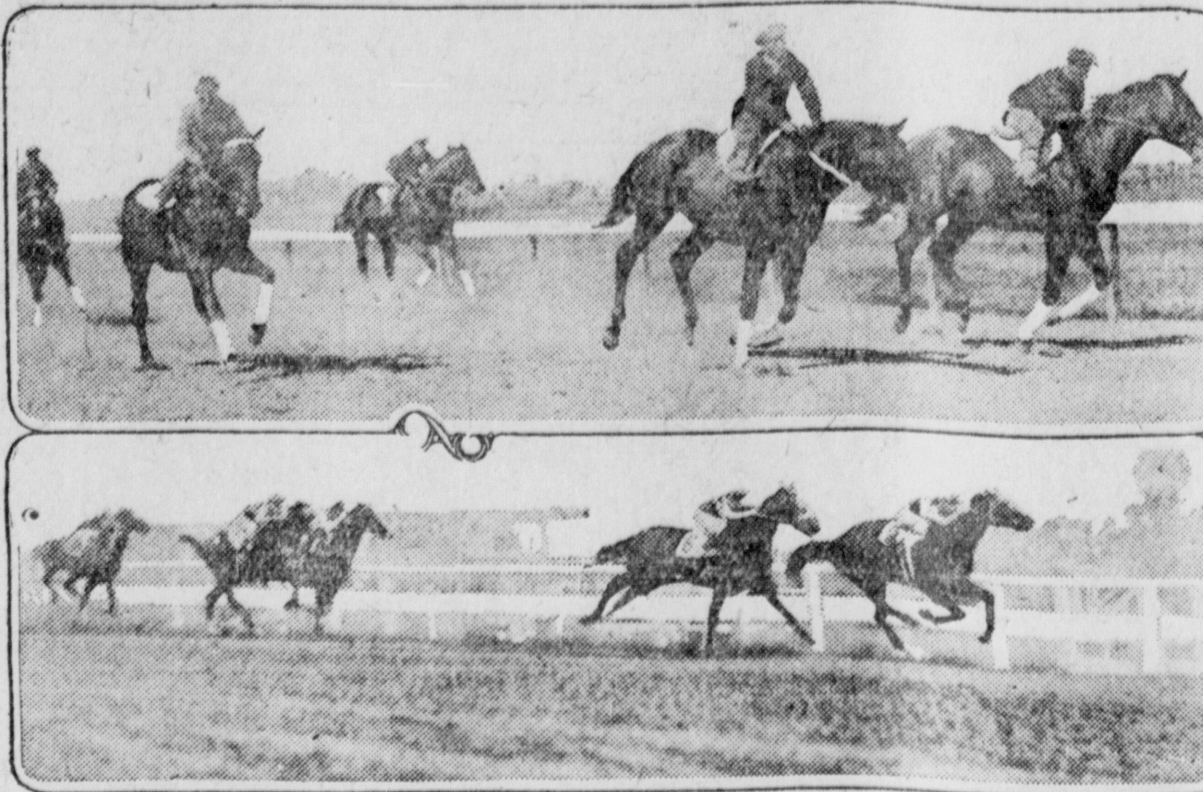

Manager Brockman announces the Reserves will play the Cincinnati Cardinals at Washington Park next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, fast time. The Cardinals will probably be the chief diamond attraction in Xenia this season.

The team is composed of players of the K. I. O. League.

Springfield Millard Clothiers will come to Xenia the following Sunday after which the Dayton Collegians will be played.

McPherson, star Pennsylvania twirler, was in Xenia Sunday to pitch for the Reserves and has agreed to stay over for the Cincinnati game next week, Manager Brockman declares.

Then came the world's series. McInnis, injected into the game as a forlorn hope, gave the team the spark which sent it away to victory. Now Grantham must fight to take the first basing job away from McInnis again.

The Battle's On Again

When Grantham was moved from the Cubs to the Pirates a year ago he had hopes of becoming the Pittsburgh outfit's regular first sacker. He did draw the assignment in 102 of the games played. Then came the world's series. McInnis, injected into the game as a forlorn hope, gave the team the spark which sent it away to victory. Now Grantham must fight to take the first basing job away from McInnis again.

"CAP" STUBBS—It Kinda Looks That Way

CHICAGO RUSHES PREPARATIONS FOR BIG EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS

CHICAGO, Apr. 26.—Committees are busily canvassing the city to make a success of the transformation of Chicago into the church center of the world on June 29 to 31.

During that time more than 1,000,000 persons, members of both the clergy and the lay field, will be here to attend the Eucharistic Congress of the World.

Every hotel in the city will be taxed to its capacity. It is expected these will take care of 250,000 of the delegates. Every room in the city available for renting purposes is being registered. All hotels and restaurants, as well as home owners, are being cautioned to have sufficient food on hand to care for this immense crowd.

It will be Chicago's biggest event since the World Fair in 1893, and it is the chief interest of the Roman Catholic world this year.

Chicago will be able to handle the immense crowd, backs of the unique convention said today. While railroad facilities will be taxed, there are sufficient carriers operating into the city to care for the delegates. Railroads from the east probably will have the biggest task in handling the immense delegations coming from abroad.

The arrangements committee announces that there will be little confusion. A room will be designed to each delegate. On the card handed to the delegate will be the address, instructions on how to reach the lodging place and the price of the room. This will prevent there being a million mob in the railroad stations, "cut rooms."

While Chicago proper is preparing for the task of being host to a million, Mundelein, Ill., is watching a fevered bit of activity. Workmen there are preparing the grounds of the St. Mary of the Lake Seminary for the influx of delegates. Carpenters, masons, bricklayers and landscape gardeners, are rushing improvements and promise the immense project will be ready by May 1.

The improvement project entails a cost of $300,000, included in the work are five arch bridges across the lake; a new 100,000 boat house; rolling, trimming and smoothing of the grass approaches and completion of several tiers of stairways leading down from the Edward Hines memorial chapel.

The stairways will connect with the miles of winding paved road, which will be the path of the great delegations when they attend the last mass of the congress at the memorial chapel.

Although plans are incomplete it is planned to have altars along the roads at which benediction will be given.

The Theatre

With the exception of one song, when she came to the audience away, Sonorita Raquel Meller, who has had kings' prices and every theater audience before whom she has appeared in Europe at her feet, failed to get the expected "rise" out of her Manhattan audience in her premiere performance last week.

"It cannot be said that they were swept away utterly by the strange, quiet Spanish singer. Her art was too subtle to sway a crowd of U. S. audience that had paid $2.50 a seat to be amused," says "Time," the weekly news magazine. "It had been a great occasion in the theater, one of the few supreme personalities had fulfilled her promise and Meller, who carries eight golden bracelets as mementos of her great successes, was fully entitled to purchase a ninth golden bangle. Yet the barrier of language and the unfamiliarity of a charm that has faithless depths but no tumult had protruded themselves. The audience had been appreciative, engrossed, deeply stirred, but they did not drag her coach home to the hotel."

Temperamentally offended by personal publicity, Raquel Meller, (she pronounces it May-are) has been the inspiration of much belated biography. She was born in Sorogassa, in Aragon, Spain, between thirty and forty years ago. Some say her parents were performers, she was taught to sew—at which art she nearly went blind once—and to sing Vespers in a convent, from which she escaped with the help of the gardener's ladder.

She was a young girl when she took her first engagement in a dingy Barcelona fishermen's cafe. She wandered from village to village, city to city, picking up the melodies that are woven through Spanish life. Her King heard of her and commanded a performance. Six years ago she sang in Paris, later in London, Rome, South America. For more than three years impresarios have been trying to lure her to the United States. She finally arrived with three maids, eight dogs and forty-two trunks.

Meller's success is laid to her personality. It is not the song nor the siffes but the way she sings it. She does not rely on stage settings, trappings and seems to cast a spell over her audience with her soprano titillation.

MISS SARAH KIZER DIES ON SATURDAY

Miss Sarah Ellen Kizer, 86, pioneer resident of the Cedarville vicinity, died at her home, four miles east of that village, on the Columbus Pike, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Death was the result of a complication of diseases. Miss Kizer took ill Thanksgiving Day.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Laura Weller and Miss Elize Kizer, at home.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment in Selma Cemetery. The Rev. Joseph Bonnet was in charge of the services.

MRS. THOMAS LOVETT DIES HERE SUNDAY

Mrs. Estella Elizabeth Lovett, 46, wife of Thomas Lovett, died at her home 332 E. Church St. Sunday night at 11:20 o'clock following a week's illness.

She was married to Thomas Lovett January 6, 1922 and moved to Xenia last Friday from her former home on the Valley Road near Trebels.

Surviving besides her husband, are two brothers, William Gilman, Dayton, and Everett, Marion, O.; and one daughter, Mildred.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, fast time, with interment in Woodland Cemetery. Friends may call after 6 p. m. Monday.

What Are You Doing For Your Puny Child?

ONE BOY GAINED 11 POUNDS IN 7 WEEKS AND IS NOW STRONG AND HEALTHY

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs. So now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Sayre's Drug Store and all drugists—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for thirty days, and if they don't help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

What? Pains in Your Side, Back and Head?

"Three years ago I had a bad spell of feminine weakness," said Mrs. L. R. Edwards of 128 W. 8th St., Cincinnati, Ohio. "I could hardly get up when I sat down. I had pains in back and side and my head would ache until I would have to go to bed and stay until it went away. But Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did wonders for me. I took six bottles and am glad to tell every woman that before I had taken four bottles my pains had entirely left me. It is a wonderful tonic for women."

Why is it necessary to urge a woman to take care of her health? Isn't it her most valuable asset? Obtain this famous "Prescription" now, in tablets or liquid, from your druggist. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

Proposed as Site for Summer White House

An island in Lake Champlain, in New York, is being offered to President Coolidge as a site for a summer White House. He has not indicated whether he will accept. Photo shows the lake from Crown Point.

U. S. Anti-Aircraft Guns Make World Take Notice

New five inch anti-aircraft guns developed by navy experts for the later dreadnaughts, are making naval history in tests off San Pedro, Calif. In one trial (shown in progress) one of the guns shot down sleeve targets drawn by planes, at a range of 12,000 feet, the greatest distance ever attempted. British naval officers recently called the attention of house of commons to superiority of American anti-aircraft guns.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Harper Pendry gets so many questions at his Bible Class each Sunday morning he hardly finds time to answer them all. So I have started some competition. Here are a few questions received by me, and here are my answers.

1. Who invented electric illumination? ANS.—A floating gentleman by the name of Noah has that honor. When he let the elephants out of the ark, he made the first Ark light. Let's have the next question.

2. Will radio ever take the place of the newspaper? ANS.—No, you can't start a fire with a radio, and neither can you wrap up a lunch in one. Like the poor, the newspapers we will always have with us.

3. Who is the laziest man in the world? ANS.—The laziest man in the world is a local high school boy who sits up all night to keep from washing his face in the morning.

4. I am a girl 18 years old and am in love with a boy who is one year older than I. I love him dearly. My father is a minister and next Sunday night is going to preach on "Love One Another." Should I take my boy friend to hear father's sermon? ANS.—No. Stay at home in the porch swing and practice what your father preaches.

5. My little boy walks through the woods to a country school and today his teacher sent home a note saying I should get him an encyclopaedia. Should I? ANS.—Don't get him any. Let him walk to school, like you and I did. It will do him good. Anyway, a bicycle is good enough for any boy.

6. I am an officer in the humane society. Is there anything in the Bible that refers to cutting off the tails of little puppies? ANS.—Yes, there is. Doesn't it say something some place about "What God hath joined, let no man put asunder."

7. Where is Hell? ANS.—The place where business men say business has gone to.

8. What is the funniest book ever written? ANS.—Ask any one who has bought a copy of that book—"Not Possible to Classify."

WHAT'S HAPPENED?

HARVEY J. DIBLE TRANSMISSION ENGINEER

ring on "Transmission of Pictures by Wire." This is one of the latest inventions and Mr. Dible is very familiar with the subject. The process by which pictures are sent over telephone wires was perfected by research engineers of the Bell System and has only been placed on a commercial basis within the last few months. It has, however, been extensively used by newspapers, banks and other lines of business. Newspaper editors say it has begun to revolutionize the sending of pictures between points distant from each other. The swiftest previous method of sending pictures was by airplane, with many hours required by the fastest schedule from coast to coast. By the use of wires in transmission of pictures, a photograph of President Coolidge taken in Washington, D. C., can be placed in the hands of newspaper editors of California as hour later. The address will follow the weekly luncheon at the Elks Club.

FUNERAL FOR JOHN HAMILTON TUESDAY

After a lingering illness, John W. Hamilton, 76, passed away at his home, 847 N. King St., Saturday afternoon at 2:50 o'clock. Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at St. Brigid's Church, with interment in Yellow Springs Cemetery.

Mr. Hamilton was born in Yellow Springs, October 5, 1850, the son of John W. and Ann Hamilton. He was employed by the Miami Powder Co., thirty-one years and resided a number of years at St. Marien. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton moved to Xenia fifteen years ago.

Besides his widow, the following children survive: James Hamilton, West Alexandria; Mrs. L. J. Geger, Yellow Springs; Mrs. Harry Fisher, Xenia; R. Hayes Hamilton, travelogue lecturer, this city and Charles Hamilton, Xenia. One half-brother, Edward Hamilton, of Columbus, also survives.

R. Hayes Hamilton arrived home two weeks ago from California on account of his father's condition.

GREENE COUNTIAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Ada McPherson, 69, wife of Malbon McPherson, Paintersville, died at McClellan Hospital, this city, Saturday at 11:45 p. m. She had been a patient at the hospital since December 21.

Mrs. McPherson was the only child of the late John and Jane Cohagen and was born and lived all of her life near Paintersville. She is survived by her husband.

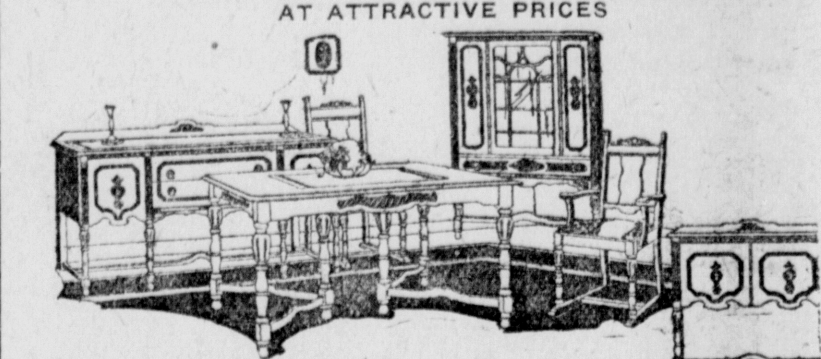

Funeral services will be held at the Paintersville Church, Tuesday at 2 p. m., Central Standard time in charge of the Rev. Mr. Carl. Interment will be made in Port William Cemetery.

Mussolini After Shooting

The bullet fired by Violet Gibson, Englishwoman, which punctured his nose, failed to keep Premier Benito Mussolini from carrying out the routine schedule of his duties. He's shown with his nose bandaged, stepping on the launch which carried him to the battleship Conte di Cavour for his trip to Tripoli shortly after the shooting.

BELLBROOK

The baccalaureate sermon for the sixteen graduates of the local high school was delivered by the Rev. Griffiths, of the home Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, April 25.

Mrs. Della V. Hopkins and her daughter, Lauradelleana Knor, have returned home after several months spent in Lansing and Detroit, Michigan.

A mock trial, "The Great Pumpkin Case," in which the Daniel Websters and Major Blackburns, of Belmont, demonstrated an ability unrivaled this side of the Supreme Court, drew a large crowd to the town hall on last Saturday night.

George W. Kinder has purchased the property sold by Howard Woods to Dayton parties. We are informed that Mr. Kinder's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ab Miller, and their daughter, will take up their residence there.

James Crowl and Elmer Wetzel were in Xenia Monday receiving their credentials for appraising the real estate of the village. Harry E. Watson is making extensive improvements on his property on the corner of West and Maple Streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berryhill were bereft of their baby boy

Monday night, only a few hours after birth.

Henry Clay is setting a fast pace for the fishermen of the village. Last week he caught a black sucker which weighed two pounds and six ounces. Later he caught a three-pound catfish, and Tuesday of this week he landed a white sucker which tipped the beam for five pounds and two ounces.

Miss Mande Eavey is seriously ill with hemorrhages of the lungs.

"Thank You" a comic play was presented by the Senior Class of the high school at the new school house, Thursday night.

Judge Marcus Shoup, of Xenia, was in the village Wednesday on legal business, and also looking after his interests in the Nall Keg Circle.

Like the imperial hosts of Gog and Magog contesting for supremacy, the Bellbrook and Centerville high school teams hauled through seven long innings Friday afternoon, with the game finally being captured by the visitors by a score of 9 to 7.

Mrs. Anna Belle Crowl, who had been a resident of the village for almost half a century, died at her home on North Main Street Thursday morning, as the result of a paralytic stroke which she sustained on the previous day. Mrs. Crowl had been in failing health for a number of months, but was thought to be improving in her condition. She was a native of New Jersey. She would have been eighty years of age in June. Her husband, Oscar D. Crowl and their two sons, William and Raymond, preceded her in death. Left to mourn their loss are two grandsons, Lawrence and Cramer Crowl, also two brothers and one sister, Charles and Thomas Cook and Mrs. Sarah Kinsel, who resides in New Jersey. Funeral was held from the M. E. Church of which she was a member, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, her pastor, the Rev. Young, officiating. Burial was made in Bellbrook cemetery.

My Matrimonial Vacation by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

NANCY LARRABEE remains in New York with her mother, VIRGINIA, when her husband, JIM LARRABEE, who is an army officer, goes to the Philippines on foreign service. Disillusioned after six months of marriage when she sees another woman in her husband's arms, she plays the social game as her mother dictates, in her relationships with FRANK HARRISON, a wealthy man twice her age, and NICHOLAS WAYNE, whom she really likes.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT VIII—A MAD ADVENTURE

THE stranger whom I'd called Michael turned to me and laughed softly as the door closed behind us.

"How about having a cocktail before we begin explanations?" he asked. "I imagine that they'll take quite some time."

I laughed too. "No, not at all; you'll have them in tabloid form at once," I explained.

"Your father," he supplied, as I hesitated.

Why would people always insist on thinking Frank Harrison was my father?

"No, just—well, a friend of the family who was at the house, who had asked me to dine with him—well, when he said he'd bring me to Louise's house, I gave an address at random, and then he came to my door with me—and there you were!"

He laughed again, uproariously. "Delightful! Now, surely you'll stop and talk with me a bit before you rush away to this sub rosa dinner engagement, about which mother and the—friend of the family—aren't to know. My name's not Michael, the one you so kindly supplied, but—"

"But why not just be Michael to me?" I asked. "It's dreadful, always having last names and pedigrees attached to everyone. Let's be original."

"Very well. But tell me your name. Nancy—thanks. I'd have called you Diane, but we'll let it rest at Nancy, for the present. Now, on to the library—I've got a shaker full of particularly good brandy and lime juice in there—"

"Oo no, I can't," I said, drawing back. A strange man, so good, but I had no intention of drinking with him, especially as I don't drink anyway, because it's so bad for the complexion. "I'm very late now, and—"

"I won't hear of it!" he protested. "Certainly I'm to be rewarded for playing up to you so admirably. Come along, little girl!"

I shook my head. "No—I'll stay right here, and you can bring the cocktail shaker to me—make it a sort of stirrup cup, if you insist."

"Bringing Mohammed to the mountain, eh? All right—"

He forgave me by the time we reached the second course.

that. So he talked on and on about the yacht that had just come into port, on which he'd done some work the year before.

"She's a beauty—the Yashti," he told me, as enthusiastically as if he'd been talking about some woman. "I'd love to have you see her. Listen, Nancy, won't you go over her with me some time? I want you to see what I really can do. Of course, one of the big men of the firm designed this boat, but I had a hand in it. I'm so crazy to make something of myself in that line—it's my one hope. I've wasted a lot of time, since—well, since I got pretty hard hit some months ago. I didn't care much, for a while, but lately I've been trying hard, and since I met you, somehow, I've wanted to try even harder."

"Oh, I know that you can do anything you really want to," I told him; being somebody's inspiration is such fun! "I'd love to see the Yashti."

"Fine. It belongs to a chap named Kirk Jordan, but we won't say anything to him about you going over the boat. He's—well, I wouldn't want you to know him."

A little voice should have whispered a warning to me just then. But it didn't!

"Tomorrow—I Need You."
